H. E. THE GOVERNOR INSPECTS AMBULANCE BRIGADE

SMART DEMONSTRATION AT CAROLINE HILL: INDIAN DIV. WINS COMPETITION

VALUABLE SERVICE TO THE COLONY APPRECIATED

There was a very large gathering at Caroline Hill yesterday when His Excellency the Governor, Sir William Peel, inspected the St. John Ambulance Brigade. Many Naval and Military officers were present including Commodore Lawrie, R.N., and Colonel Myles, who judged the subsequent competition. Others present included the Hon. Sir William Shenton, Hon. Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Southorn, Hon. Dr. A. E. Wellington, Hon. Dr. S. W. Tse, Hon. Mr. T. N. Chan, Mr. Li Pick Mul, Mr. Kwok Sit Lau, Mr. Mok Koon Sang, Mr. Tang Shu Kin and Mr. Chan Lim Pak.

After inspecting the Brigade and watching the competitions with keen interest His Excellency presented the prizes won during the year, and then addressed the Brigade. In the course of his speech he referred to the valuable work that is being done in Hong Kong by the different divisions, and thanked them all on behalf of the Colony for their services. The Brigade then marched past, His Excellency taking the salute on a small dais in front of the stands.

The competition on the grounds yesterday was for the Mok Cho Chuen trophy and was won by the Indian Division.

SMART PARADE BY THE BRIGADE

Headed by the band of the South Wales Borderers, the Brigade presented a very smart picture as they marched into the grounds, promptly at 4.30 p.m., and took up their position in open square. His Excellency the Governor arrived at 4.45 and after receiving the Royal Salute, inspected the Corps, after which he shook hands with the Vice-Patrons and Members of the Finance Committee.

This was followed by interesting demonstrations, stretcher parties from each division competing. The parties were supposed to attend to a case of electric burns on the chest, the patient being unconscious and also suffering from compound fracture of right thigh and haemorrhage of Femoral Artery (right). The different units set about their work smartly and a touch of reality was added to the proceedings when one of the competitors actually fainted.

The demonstration was won by the Indian Company.

done there has been wonderful, and over 40,000 cases were attended to last year. A health centre on very efficient lines was opened in June at Kam Tin, and is doing excellent work.

At the same time, while fully appreciating the work done, I wish to stress the necessity of co-operation with other organisations working on similar lines. Hong Kong is full of many good works, but the tendency sometimes is to start a new movement without having due regard to the needs and activities of existing movements, thus leading to overlapping and a loss of economy in time and money. I am glad to say that the St. John Ambulance Brigade and the New Territories Medical Benevolent Association have now joined forces, and are operating as one body. It was my earnest desire that this should be done, and I thank and congratulate in particular Sir

H.E. THE GOVERNOR

H.E. the Governor, addressing the gathering said:-Commissioner Morris, Officers and Members of the Hong Kong Branch of the St. John Ambulance Brigade:

In the first place I wish to make an interesting and pleasant announcement. The Sub Prior, acting on behalf of His Royal Highness the Grand Prior, has approved the following recommendation of the Chapter General. "That Alfred Morris, Assistant Commissioner in charge Hong Kong district, St. John Ambulance Brigade Overseas, be appointed Commissioner." I most heartily congratulate Mr. Morris on his promotion, which is well merited and is a fitting reward for all his fine work in connection with the Brigade work in Hong Kong. (Applause).

This is the third time that I have had the privilege of carrying out the Annual Inspection of the Corps, and I congratulate it on the excellent turnout and the very interesting demonstrations which it has given. It is quite clear that the Corps is maintaining its high standard of efficiency. The Corps continues to give valuable service to the Colony, and when I was on leave last year I took the opportunity, when visiting the Headquarters of the Order, to express to the Secretary General my great admiration of all that is being done by the Hong Kong Branch.

The free vaccinations carried out by the Corps during the year numbered over 24,000. Members of the Corps have assisted at fires, street accidents, drowning cases, and have attended various functions in case their services might be required. Two activities call for special mention. Early in the year a number of volunteers belonging to the Corps went to Shanghai at the time of the Sino-Japanese conflict and rendered services to the sick and wounded. They did excellent work and were highly commended for their plans. The Corps also rendered valuable assistance in the New Territories during the recent typhoon.

WILD RUMOURS DENIED

CHANG NOT VISITING NANKING

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY]

NANKING, Jan. 23. Highest Chinese authorities officially deny that Chang Hsueh Liang visited Nanking yesterday, declaring that his aeroplane arrived to take back his Chief-of-Staff to Peiping; but the reports that Chang came are foundationless. (Further cables will be found on page 9).

IN HONG KONG TO-DAY

FINE TO CLOUDY

YESTERDAY'S WEATHER REPORT, FORECAST AND REMARKS, ISSUED BY THE ROYAL OBSERVATORY AT 6 P.M., STATED:-
A STRONG ANTI-CYCLONE IS STATIONARY OVER N. CHINA. FRESH WINDS WILL CONTINUE OVER THE CHINA COAST, AND THE NORTHERN CHINA SEA.
LOCAL FORECAST:- NORTHERLY WINDS, FRESH; FINE TO CLOUDY.

William Shenton, Mr. Morris and Dr. Arthur Woo, and the others who have been instrumental in bringing it about, on their achievement. It is now necessary to co-ordinate the work of this new joint body with that of Government in the New Territories, and steps are being taken to attain that end.

On behalf of the Corps I thank those doctors and others who have assisted the Corps by giving lectures and demonstrations, holding examinations and judging competitions. I also thank those who have generously supported the Brigade with subscriptions, but I would again press the need for further donations, for we have to depend very much on the same people from year to year. The expenses of the work in the New Territories are considerable, and further help is asked for.

I take this opportunity of expressing regret at the resignation of Mr. Ho Kom Tong, Knight of Grace of the Order, from the post of Chairman of the Finance Committee, which he has held for some years. Mr. Ho Kom Tong has been a tower of strength in the Corps, and has given very generously of his time and money. Although he has resigned his post as Chairman of the Finance Committee, I am confident that Mr. Ho Kom Tong will continue to assist the Corps. In conclusion I congratulate the winners of the various awards and trophies presented to-day, and I sincerely congratulate Commissioner Morris and those other members of the Corps on having received special recognition. (Applause).

Hoarse?

Nothing Serious, but—

well, a warning that your throat needs attention

If your throat is inclined to be weak, if you are liable to get hoarse after one cigarette too many, or after prolonged talking, you will find "Allenburys' Glycerine and Black Currant Pastilles" a boon. Made only from the fresh juice of ripe black currants and pure glycerine, they are manufactured according to an old French recipe of the House of Allenburys. They quickly relieve and soothe the throat, and the voice, and they are as safe as they are effective. They contain no harmful drugs, they may be used as frequently as necessary with absolute safety.

Motor Notes From Great Britain

THE ORIGIN OF THE SIX-WHEELER

LONDON, Dec. 28. In 1927 the late Lord Montagu, a leading authority on road transport, made an overland journey from Jerusalem to Baghdad in a six-wheeled lorry. This vehicle had been specially designed for transport in countries without roads, and Lord Montagu was one of the first to recognise the immense possibilities of this type for service overseas.

It was, in fact, mainly to substantiate his convictions that he included this Thornycroft six-wheeler in his fleet of cars. Its performance soon confirmed his beliefs, for in spite of the extremely difficult conditions of travelling for many hundreds of miles with its full load through deep sand, mud and large areas of boulder-strewn ground, the lorry accomplished the journey far more satisfactorily and even economically than the much more powerful 8-cylinder cars which made up the fleet.

SPEEDY DEVELOPMENTS

Interest in this form of transport for undeveloped parts of the Empire was thus aroused, and within a few years Thornycroft six-wheelers were being successfully employed in Australia, India and South Africa. In the latter country their record is an amazing one, following their experimental use by the Union of South African Railways on regular road services beyond their railway terminals.

The transport facilities thus provided rapidly encouraged their agricultural development and similar services were added. Within five years the fleet had increased to over 400 of these vehicles operating regularly over routes totalling approximately 12,000 miles and very nearly equalling the total mileage of the South African Government Railways.

MAKING DRIVING EASIER

The easy gear-changing device, that has been perfected by Dennis Bros. the commercial vehicle manufacturers of Guildford, is not only of value to drivers of inferior ability, but is much appreciated by such very experienced men as the London bus driver. Several thousands of gear-changes are part of the daily work of these men, who drive through some of the densest of the world's traffic; and while their skill is exceptional, nervous tension is, of course, entailed by the constant exercise of judgement.

They naturally appreciate the relief afforded by this new device and vie with one another to secure a vehicle in which it is incorporated.

With the Dennis device, in place of operating a clutch pedal, the driver presses a push-button, moves the gear-lever to the required position, releases the push-button and accelerates. This constitutes the entire business of gear-changing. The method of working is briefly as follows:—The depressing of the button releases power which first withdraws the friction-clutch, and then a dog-clutch at the rear of the gearbox, thereby isolating the latter. A small brake comes into operation immediately after, bringing all the gear wheels to rest. It is now perfectly simple to engage whatever gear is required. The button is then released, allowing the faces of the dog-clutch to come into contact with each other, but they do not engage until their speeds are equal, which automatically follows when the friction clutch is engaged a moment later and the engine accelerated.

ABOUT BODYWORK

An original method of testing out the wearing qualities of various kinds of finish on bodywork has been adopted by Hoopers, the well-known London coachbuilders. The managing director has had a body built for his Rolls-Royce, the various sections of which have been treated with a number of different kinds of paint and cellulose. In addition, many types of locks and fittings have been incorporated, while the interior is finished in a number of different upholstery leathers.

This arrangement will make it possible to judge in a most expeditious manner which of the various kinds of finish employed proves most lasting in ordinary use. On the subject of bodywork, it is interesting to note that there is an increasing trend for special bodies to be built for manufacturers which compete with standard factory products both in price and equipment. Indeed, at the recent Olympia Show, some quite exceptional values were to be found among the better known coachbuilders' exhibits.

The Vauxhall Cadet, for instance, had several models with bodies built by independent coachbuilders. Amongst these, the Grosvenor saloon de luxe proved so popular that sufficient orders were taken to keep the coachworks at their maximum output for 8 or 9 months, while for the second year in succession this coachwork was awarded a first prize for standard bodies in the competition organised by the Institute of British Carriage Builders and Automobile Manufacturers. The Grosvenor Carriage Co. is owned and controlled by Shaw and Kilburn, the London distributors for Vauxhall cars, who are well-known to Overseas visitors to England.

CARS OF TO-DAY

16/60 H.P. HUMBER

The Humber 16/60-h.p. six-window saloon, with its "cushioned power" engine and gearbox suspension, automatic engine starter, concealed screen wipers and direction indicator arms, is neatly designed throughout and gives exceptional leg and elbow room for its class.

The body, with its side moving quarter lights, sliding roof, and scuttle ventilators, has easy means of ventilation. The wings in front are extended to the dumbirons and thus help to keep down mud while improving appearance. The back of the car is shapely and clean, but there was a slight grumble by the apron of the back tank occasionally on the car tried. A girl is supplied, and a nearside petrol filler.

Side Valves.

The 6-cylinder engine has side valves, and what is known as cyclonic induction comprises a downdraught carburettor with a large air cleaner above and a three-branch inlet and four-branch exhaust manifold joined together centrally and square-sectioned. The exhaust pipe is held centrally; the holding, brass nuts and yokes are handy. This is probably as well since it would be easiest to detach the manifold for unobstructed tappet regulation. Such parts as the sparking plugs in the head, the oil pressure filter, and the circular oil cleaner can be got at. The fan is combined with an impeller, and the gland can be adjusted by a get-at-able bolt. Timing is by chain with automatic tensioning. The startix is on the dash. The honeycomb radiator, in a shell, has adjustable thermostatically controlled air shutters in front, and the water tap can be reached from here.

The Gear Box.

Engine, single-plate dry clutch, and four-speed centrally controlled gearbox are held as a unit at two points in front with rubber to the cross-member, and by a casing lined with soft rubber, which is fastened to the back of the gearbox and the diagonal bracing of the frame, and surrounds the universal joint. Two deep channel section struts extend three-quarters of the length of the frame, forming a cross at the centre. A cross-member carries the change-speed lever, and though this makes the starter accessible for withdrawal only from below, the spindle has a squared end which can be got at from above. The speed lever works flexibly and is sprung against reverse; there is a level filler for the box on the offside. Third gear is of the constant-mesh type. The springs are half-elliptical front and back, have silent-bloc bushes for the shackles, and work with hydraulic shock absorbers which are controlled by thermostats. The rear springs are under the axle; those in front are flat, shackled forwards, splayed, held out of centre, and well clipped. Bendix dual servo brakes are worked by pedal, or central hand lever—with one cross shaft—with cables in 14-in. diameter ribbed drums. Each is adjusted by threaded bolts from the outside of the drums.

On the Road.

This saloon runs well and gives the impression of being a "much larger car because of the long rounded bonnet and short scuttle, its weight, which keeps it well down on the road, and the general smoothness of the mechanical operation. Forty is an easy speed, while at 50 and 55, even against the collar, is a good reserve of power. The greatest speeds on second, third, and top are, with the car fully run-in, about 27, 50, and 63 miles an hour. The engine is sympathetic, silky, and quiet until near its maximum, and sustains the load well.

On the stretch 52 miles an hour was obtained, 20 and 44 were the rates on the 1 in 22½ Dashwood Hill, while with a standing start on third the top of the old hill was passed at 24. There were two persons in the car, the roads were dry, and the slight wind was favourable. Clearly the car is not as fast as it could be, but the general feel and smoothness are more than worth a few extra miles an hour.

Specification: No. of cylinders, 6; size, 67.5 by 106 mm.; capacity, 2.276cc.; nominal h.p., 16.65; h.p., 20 at 2,800 r.p.m.; number of main bearings, 7; overall forward gear ratio, 2.75; 2nd, 1.43; and 3rd, 1.14. Fuel consumption, 24.4 gallons; 100 miles, 10.4 gallons; 100 miles, 10.4 gallons.

THE BLAST OF THE MOTOR HORN

BRITAIN'S NOISE ABATEMENT CAMPAIGN

SAW-TOOTHED SIRENS

The Noise Abatement Association, 34, Queen's Gate, S.W., has asked the Minister of Transport whether it is possible to take action, either by Order or by a clause in the London Transport Bill, against the present excessive din caused by electrical motor horns.

Mr. John Stevenson, the secretary, states that the request was made after the association had considered the letter of a Hampstead man who believed the association would earn the thanks of many thousands of persons if it could induce Parliament to stop the present form of saw-tooth electrically driven motor horns. The letter declared that this form of noise could be abolished in populous areas by a stroke of the pen of the Minister of Transport.

The volume of sound from this type of motor horn, the correspondent urged, is quite out of proportion to what is considered necessary to give adequate warning of approach, for each blast of the horn in a populous district during the night could disturb, it is claimed at least 200 persons. The police in London, it is stated, will not allow anything except a bulb horn on taxicabs.

Mr. Stevenson points out that the mass of correspondence he has received shows that public resentment against the growth of noises prevails in every class of the community. Protests have come notably from medical men, ministers of religion, artists, authors, lawyers, and property owners, and the association is inviting professional organizations, property owners, and societies interested in the preservation of social amenities to cooperate in framing a policy to protect the public.

Nervous Disorders.

Medical correspondents suggest that the increase of nervous disorders is partly due to noise, and some emphasize the need for action.

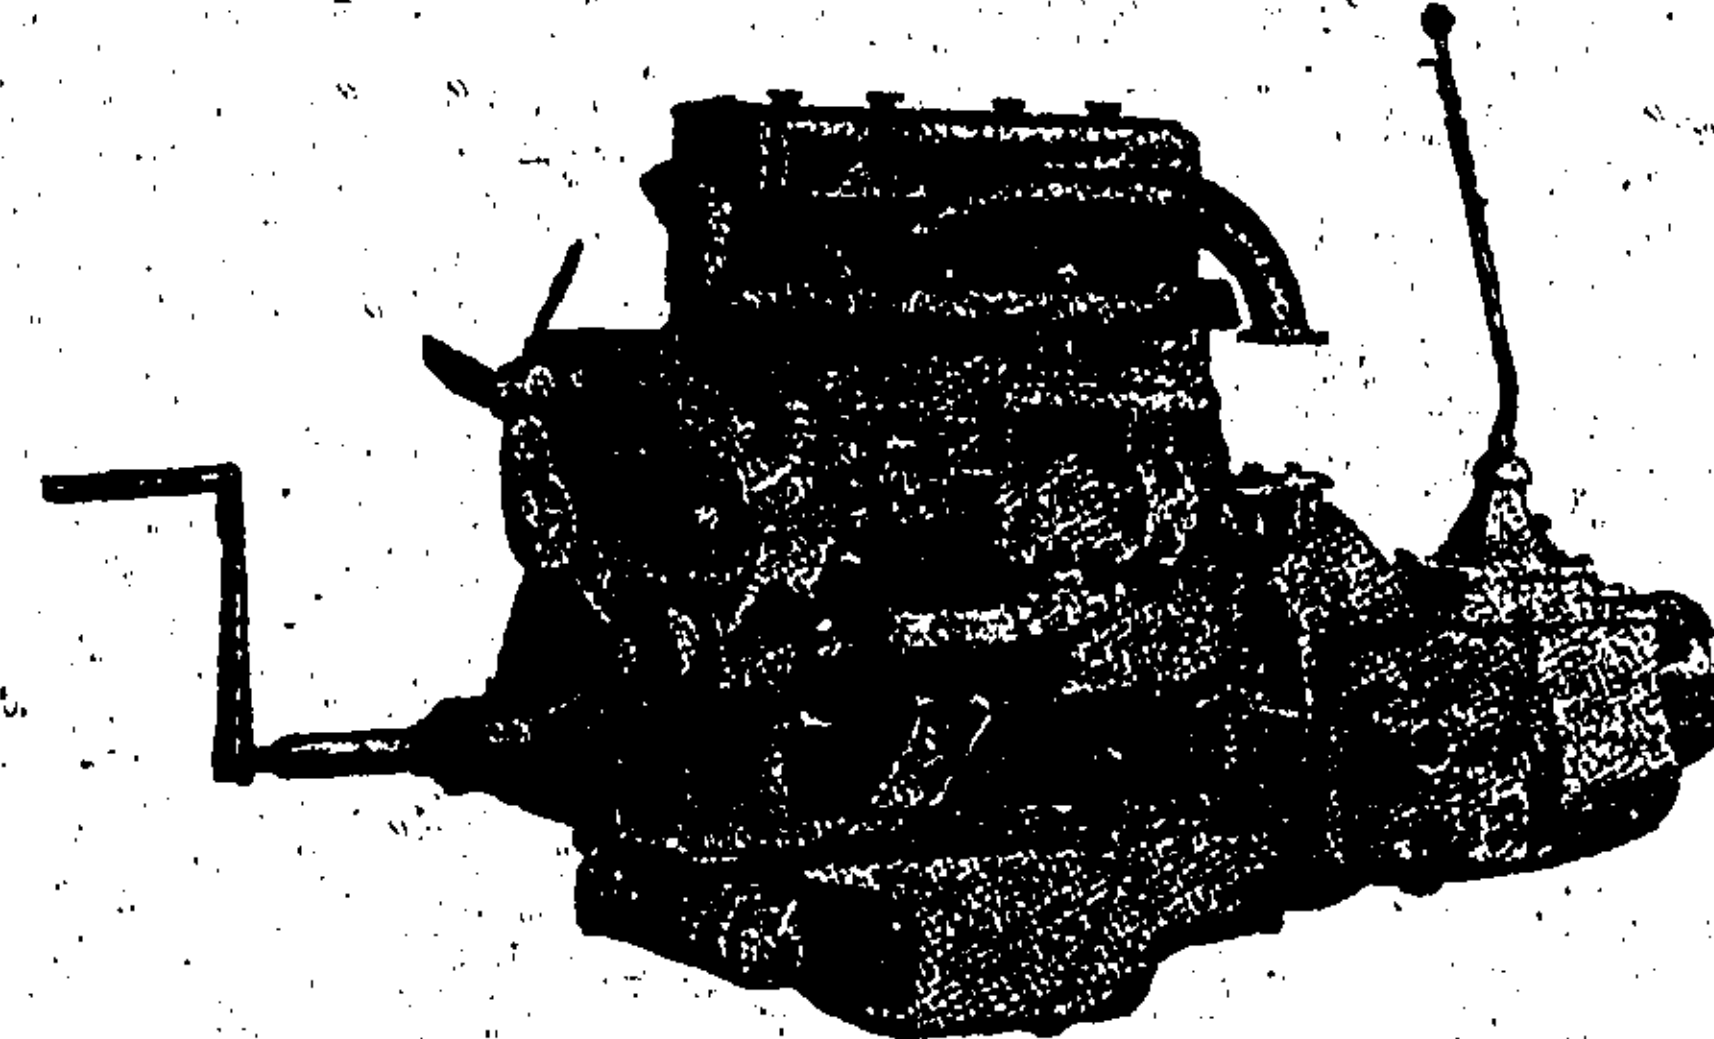

Property owners assert that there has been some deterioration in values of household property along main roads because of traffic noises. The worst nuisances are stated to be caused by heavy lorries unfitted with silencing devices, and which are carelessly driven with rattling mudguards and tailboards. Week-end joy-riders, it is asserted, can be equally as noisy in other ways.

ADVICE FOR THE OWNER-DRIVER

FROM THE VACUUM OIL COMPANY.

"A Complete Guide to Correct Lubrication" has been published by the Vacuum Oil Company, says a Home expert:—I recommend my readers to obtain a copy and take note of the advice given therein. Actually the title does not do this book justice, for the contents cover many other points of car upkeep beyond the processes having concern, directly or indirectly, with lubrication. There is a section, for instance, entitled "Troubles: Their Causes and Remedies"; others deal with the ignition system, the fuel feed, the cooling system, loss of compression, the starting and lighting equipment; etc.; while engine and chassis requirements in regard to lubrication are covered in a commendably explicit and comprehensive way. The sections are well illustrated by means of drawings, obviously prepared specially to emphasize the reading matter.

Accompanying the booklet mentioned, as I received it, was an advertisement relating to a new variety in the range of the Vacuum Oil Company's motor oils. It is a "Special Motor Oil" (S.M.O.) which is described as being "the most advanced motor oil yet produced." It is said to be "the most advanced motor oil yet produced" and "the most advanced motor oil yet produced." (Continued at foot of next column)

MORRIS' UNUSUAL CARAVAN

MOVING "MOVIE THEATRE" FOR F.M.S.

With a view to instructing Chinese Malays and Indians on agricultural and co-operative subjects, by means of lectures, exhibits, lantern slides and moving pictures, the Government of the Federated Malay States has had built an interesting "rural lecture caravan," which is mounted on a Morris Commercial 30-cwt. chassis.

The coachwork was constructed by the Malay States Railways, and the exterior tastefully finished in royal blue and ivory. The body contains living quarters for two Asiatic lecturers, besides housing a cinematograph projector and much additional equipment. The generator for the projector unit is driven by an endless belt running round the jacked-up off rear wheel of the vehicle, whose engine, turning under such circumstances at 15 m.p.h., delivers a steady voltage of 120.

SPARKS FROM THE PLUGS

WORLD WANTS BRITISH CARS

INDUSTRY'S GREAT CHANCE TO REGAIN OVERSEA MARKETS

It would be rash to talk about a "boom" in the British motor industry, for sales of its products, though better to an astonishing degree both at home and abroad than they were, are still some way below the figures of 1929, and of course include in the totals a great preponderance of cars of the smallest and cheapest classes.

Nevertheless, it is not only true that the motor industry finishes the year in better fettle than any of the other major industries of the country, but that it finds within its grasp markets vastly more lucrative than that home market in which it has now made itself supreme.

Phenomenal Sales.
The sales of new cars this autumn have been, in the circumstances, phenomenal. The figures for October were better than in any October since 1929, and in the three months August, September and October 43 per cent. more cars were registered for the first time than in the same three months of 1931.

More than half the total, it is true, were of the horse-power or smaller, but the "tens" have almost caught up the "hundreds," which have for so long predominated in numbers; in fact, "while we are still buying small cars they are not quite so small as they were—or so cheap, so dealers report; and two classes which sold better in October were the 18 h.p. class and the 30 h.p., the latter jumping from nine last year to 194 this.

Striking Rise in Exports.
So much for the home market. Not everyone is sharing this good business, but it is fairly widespread and, of course, the demand is almost entirely for British cars. Far more striking are the reports from abroad. Exports are going up. In November they were in value 50 per cent. greater than in November, 1931, and the total for the eleven months of the year was half a million higher than last year.

If you remember the in no other country has the demand stood up against hard times so well as in England; that car sales in India, Australia, and all parts of the Empire have shrunk alarmingly, and that the United States' exports are still only half of what they were in 1931, as those of 1931 were only half those of 1930, the fact that we are increasing our sales abroad is most heartening.

We are really recapturing our pre-war share of the world markets. Except for the Irish Free State, we are sending more cars, or cars to a greater value, everywhere. In spite of political troubles, India has taken more cars from us this year. Australia, just beginning to recover in earnest, has taken over £250,000 worth more in the eleven months. South Africa has doubled her imports of British cars since 1930.

Europe Buying British.
To take one particular market, the new-car registrations in Czecho-slovakia up to the end of November included twice as many British cars as American, their nearest competitors. The latest figures from the Cape show a British car for the first time at the head of the sales list. And besides all that our exports of private cars to "other countries," those outside the Empire, have risen in number from

BIG BILLIARDS BY SMALL BOY

SCORES 250 IN FIFTY MINUTES

(Special Air-Mail Service)

LONDON, January 6. Diminutive youth played some very tallish billiards at the famous Burroughes' hall yesterday afternoon. Most of it came from Donald Cruikshank, a twelve-year-old aspirant to the proud title of "boy snooker champion," and he achieved it mainly by standing on tip-toe occasionally on a chair.

Donald gave his long-trousered opponent, Bernard Fitzpatrick, of Sheffield, a good twelve inches in height and quite a respectable hiding at billiards.

Somewhat on other, he prised his polished schoolboy face and his shoulders high enough above the table to get his elbow up behind them and swing his 17½ oz. cue well and truly through. On this sound foundation he constructed many telling breaks, in the twenties and thirties, and fascinated everybody by the smoothness of his billiards.

"Long Jinnies."
"Long jinnies," played from the extreme tips of his toes, were a feature. More pleasing still to the cognoscenti was a follow-through hazard played along the top cushion and "dragged" to allow the object ball to clear both shoulders of the pocket produced billiards indeed from a boy of 12.

Distance and height were Donald's great problems. He would heave the long rest laboriously into position only to discover that its entire length, plus his own reach would not get him near enough to hit the ball.

Miss Joyce Gardner, the lady champion, who was refereeing, would then rush forward, solicitously with a chair and hold it while Donald played his shot from mid-air. Nothing disturbs, however, the equanimity of the boy billiards player. A hard luck shot that set the ball up handsomely for his opponent is not a matter for despair and lamentation, as it is with many grown-up players. You grin cheerfully at your parents as you go back to your seat and come up smiling again next time.

Always Smiling.
Donald came up smiling so regularly that he reached 250 in a little over fifty minutes. This is much too fast for the average "hundred upper," especially if Donald left the balls as safely as he left them for Fitzpatrick yesterday.

It seems a shame to do violence to one of the last surviving aphorisms of Herbert Spencer. But in the interests of truth it must be stated that Donald Cruikshank has not wasted his youth on or under a billiards table. Before coming up to London a few days ago from South Shields he won a billiards title and a scholarship in the same week.

THE MORE LOOMS SYSTEM

END OF FOUR YEARS' DISPUTE

(Special Air-Mail Service)

LONDON, Jan. 5. On Dec. 27, signatures were affixed to the agreement for the operation of the more looms system in the manufacturing section of the Lancashire cotton trade. This act formally ends an industrial controversy that has been going on for four years.

Increased production at lower costs is expected from the operation of the new system, which means there will be six looms per weaver, instead of four, but by an ingenious adjustment of the methods of payment for labour the individual earnings of weavers employed on six looms each will not suffer.

Some displacement of labour is regarded as unavoidable, but it is hoped that an increased demand for the classes of cloths to be manufactured on the new system will lead to the reabsorption of the displaced workers on the thousands of looms that have been standing idle for so long.

3,900 in 1930 and 4,000 last year, 11,389, and in value from £268,000 last year to £1,393,000 this year Europe is beginning to buy British.

Our output of motor vehicles last year came to 239,307. The United States and Canada export in a normal year to countries outside the Americas over 2,000,000 vehicles. If we can get any substantial share of that export business it will mean producing, not twice as many vehicles as we do now, but four or five times as many. Hard times and heavy taxation have put a premium on the small cheap-to-run car, and we are proving to the world that we make that type of car best and cheapest. Those conditions will not last for ever. While they do last our manufacturers have been making unique opportunity for themselves.

GIVE CHILDREN A CHANCE

TO BE DESTRUCTIVE

(Special Air-Mail Service)

LONDON, Jan. 5. Hints to parents on how to bring up children were given by Dr. J. R. Rees, deputy director of the Institute of Medical Psychology, when speaking at the twelfth winter school for health visitors and school nurses, at the Bedford College for Women. "Many parents," he said, "would sooner a child did not have a mind of its own and they would prefer their child always to remain a nice docile creature, doing exactly what it is told. Curiosity in the child is another bugbear to the parent, but a child's curiosity should be respected from the beginning.

"Again a child should always be allowed to play freely. The child who has never learned to play satisfactorily is less likely to work satisfactorily in later life. In the same way we should allow children certain opportunities for being destructive.

"Cruelty in small children is not wickedness. They are merely seeking an outlet for their aggressive qualities. I know the case of one little girl who chops the heads off all her dolls. This little girl felt she was fighting against the repressive attitude of her mother who had always stood between the child and freedom."

BABY IN MANGER

DISCOVERY IN ROMAN CATHOLIC CHURCH

(Special Air-Mail Service)

LONDON, January 5. A scene at the Roman Catholic Church of St. Aloysius, Oxford, on Wednesday night, when a young woman is alleged to have placed a baby in the crib, a representation of the Bethlehem stable, and afterwards to have knelt over altar ornaments, was described by Father Fitzmaurice to a reporter yesterday.

"The first discovery that anything was wrong," he said, "was made by some women who came into the Church to view the crib. They were surprised to find in the manger instead of the figure of the infant Christ a baby of about seven months old. They removed the baby and searched the church for the woman, but could not find her and went for me. Before I arrived there was a crash at the high altar and the crucifix, candlesticks, and many large vases which adorned the altar crashed to the ground.

"When I asked the woman why she had done it her only reply was: 'It is written, My Father's house is a house of prayer. Ye have made it a den of thieves.' Before the police arrived the woman attempted to pull down another crucifix from the wall and started to address the baby requesting the people to bring her the white robes the priests wore."

He added the woman went quickly away when the police arrived. It is understood that she has been taken to a mental hospital.

WIRELESS BAN DEVELOPMENTS

THE BROADCASTING OF VARIETY

(Special Air-Mail Service)

LONDON, Jan. 5.

The General Theatre Corporation, an important combine, controlling almost a hundred variety theatres and 500 cinemas, at many of which variety turns are given, has issued a warning to the artists that acceptance of broadcasting engagements in future will violate their contracts with the combine. All contracts have contained a clause that artists must obtain permission from the corporation before broadcasting but it has not been seriously applied. In future the corporation proposes to refuse this permission. The reason given is that "the broadcasting of variety is in direct competition" with the theatres where the artists appear in person. In the last few days some prominent variety performers have had to cancel broadcasting engagements. Those include Layton and Johnstone, Mr. Rob. Wilton and Miss Grace Fields and it is doubtful whether Jack Payne and his band, and others will be able to broadcast. Miss Wilton, who has been told they cannot broadcast under their contract.

"TROUBLE IN PARADISE"ENGLISH ACTOR IN THE LEAD

Herbert Marshall, the brilliant young actor who won general attention playing opposite Marlene Dietrich in "Blonde Venus," and was rewarded with the leading male role in Ernst Lubitsch's "Trouble in Paradise" which comes to the King's Theatre on Wednesday, is en route back to his native England to resume his stage career in London.

Marshall, featured with Miriam Hopkins, Kay Francis, Charlie Ruggles and Edward Everett Horton in "Trouble in Paradise," is under contract to play in London until May, 1933. The contract was signed before he joined the cast of "Blonde Venus," and though producers, anxious to take advantage of his new popularity, tried to persuade him to remain in Hollywood, he was unable to. However, when the contract expires, he will return to American films.

In England, where he won his first stage fame, Marshall will appear in either "Reunion in Vienna" or "Another Language," two Broadway stage successes of last season.

He is cast as a suave super-crook in "Trouble in Paradise," adapted from a play by Lazlo Aladar. His activities are doubled after he enters into a professional and romantic union with Miss Hopkins, his feminine counterpart. But the attempt of the pair to swindle Miss Francis, a widow with a fortune as large as the war debt, leads to humorous complications when his interest in the prospective victim develops into something resembling love.

"SKY DEVILS"

COMING TO THE KING'S

"Sky Devils" which comes to the King's on Sunday has some of the most amazing flying stunts ever filmed. Pictures of flying are often not very interesting, unless perhaps one has sufficient technical knowledge to realise the skill needed to perform the various feats. "Sky Devils" has thrills that no one can miss, besides, it is a scene of two flights of army planes in action.

The story is really a rehash of any one of the popular war pictures having the three necessary ingredients—the sergeant, the pilot, and the French girl—but it is a rehash of a picture that has been done a hundred times over.

"STRICTLY DISHONORABLE"STRANGE CAREER OF LEADING MAN

Paul Lukas, who was borrowed from Paramount to play the role of Count Gus, in "Strictly Dishonorable" which is now showing at the Central Theatre, picked out a most unusual place in which to be born. He first saw the light of day aboard a train which was entering Budapest, capital of Hungary. Grown to manhood, Lukas served in the Hungarian Air Corps in the World War, and then spent two years studying at the Actor's Academy of Budapest, later making his stage debut at the Comedy Theatre in that city in the title role of Ferenc Molnar's play, "Liliom."

His first motion picture in Hollywood was "Loves of an Actress," with Pola Negri in 1927 and he has since appeared in leading roles. In "Strictly Dishonorable" Mr. Lukas is supported by Sidney Fox, Lewis Stone, and George Meeker.

HAROLD HUTH AT THE QUEEN'S

IN HONEYMOON ADVENTURE

Harold Huth, although at one time a motor car salesman, comes from good theatrical stock—his aunt being Miss Eva Moore, his uncle H.V. Emond and his cousin Jill Emond (under contract to Radio Pictures in Hollywood).

Huth played various small parts on stage and in films but Raymond Massey gave him his first real chance in "Dishonoured Lady" opposite Fay Compton.

Played in the stage version of "The Outsider," Wallace's "Smoky Cell" and made a great success of his role in the film version of "The Outsider" and again in "Down River." His suave acting in "A Honeymoon Adventure" now at the Queen's Theatre marks him down as "a comer."

sprinkled through the first and second acts and laughs are original compositions by George Gershwin, modern music master, the picture is a masterpiece of the genre.

"GIRL CRAZY"

MERRY FILM BOOKED FOR CENTRALWHEELER AND WOLSEY
AGAIN

If variety is the spice of life, RKO-Radio Pictures' all-star rollicking comedy "Girl Crazy" which will open at the Central Theatre on Wednesday January 25. It offers mirth and melody, romance and action, beauty and atmosphere.

In the cast are comedy stars, a child prodigy, Broadway beauties, Hollywood cowboys, Mexican senoritas, two gun men, and polished villains. The action shifts from city tenement, to western dude ranch and Mexican resort and ranges from rip-roaring chases to rhythmic dances and tender love scenes.

Heading the imposing array of talent are the inimitable Bert Wheeler and Robert Woolsey, who start the film as city slickers and wind up as rough and ready westerners. Eddie Quillan carries the romantic lead of a girl crazy youth who transforms a respectable cattle ranch into a whoopee dude resort. Mitzi Green, Hollywood's child mimic wonder, plays a pestiferous little sister and romance and beauty brigade is headed by Dorothy Lee, Arline Judge, Kitty Kelly and Lita Chevret. Stanley Fields and Chris Pin Martin plays the shoot and run villains.

The story deals with a girl-crazy youth, who is sent to the quiet of a western ranch to cure him of his weakness for beautiful women. He imports a snappy jazz band, a bevy of Broadway beauties dresses the cowpunchers in dinner jackets, and turns the ranch into a playboy's paradise.

"YOUNG AMERICA"

WITH HOLLYWOOD'S STAR DRIVER

With the large automobile concerns having their own "test drivers" who try out new models on the road, and airplane manufacturers having "test pilots" in similar capacities, Spencer Tracy is becoming noted as a "tester" for the screen industry.

In his last five pictures Tracy has driven a different vehicle each time. In "Quick Millions" it was a ten-ton truck; in "Goldie" he took the wheel of a tramp steamer; in "She Wanted a Millionaire" he handled the throttle of a locomotive for several days in the railroad sequence; in "Sky Devils" he had the stick of a combat plane, although in this case an experienced pilot flew with him at a duplicate set of controls, and in "Disorderly Conduct" he mastered the art of riding a heavy police motorcycle, taking several bad spills before he learned the finer points of handling the 400-pound machine.

In his current film, "Young America," Tracy returns to less unusual means of transport and in the exciting climax drives a fast roadster at breakneck speed in pursuit of a pair of burglars, which, he says, gave him the thrill he has come to expect with each new role.

Doris Kenyon has the feminine lead opposite Tracy in "Young America" currently showing at the King's Theatre, and the new screen celebrity juvenile role. Frank Borzage directed the picture for Fox Films, and such favourites as Beryl Mercer, Ralph Bellamy and Sarah Padden are in the cast.

STAN LAUREL

JUST A SHY ENGLISHMAN

He never knew a real home. Most of his life has been spent in dressing rooms and railroad trains. He talks with a deep baritone voice, with a clipped English accent. He walks with a springy, athletic stride. He learned to know the backstage lore of the music halls of London, and the continent, travelling with his professional parents. He seldom went to school, gleaming a modicum of education at King James Grammar School, winding up at Glasgow, Scotland.

Imitates Queen Victoria.

He is shy and retiring, but is an excellent conversationalist when the barrier of reticence is broken. He is a convincing mimic, his favourite imitation being that of Queen Victoria. He lives quietly, scornful of ostentation, and has come to the realization of the value of a permanent home after years of wandering. He first came to America in 1910, arriving on an English cattle boat with Charlie Chaplin, and a score of other English clowns.

He toured the country from coast to coast for several years with Fred Karno's English Comedians. He drifted back to Europe in musical comedy, took a fling in vaudeville, singing, dancing, clowning. In 1917 he took his first whirl in motion pictures. He didn't like them and returned to the stage, his home. He spent five years knocking around in the theatrical world. Finally, the lure of the picture brought him back before the cameras. He brought his make-up box to the Hal Roach studios in 1922.

He met Oliver Hardy on the same "lot." They made a comedy together. Public and exhibitors craved more. A comedy team was formed in 1923. Laurel has appeared in more than forty comedies with his partner, as well as in features "Pardon Us," and "Pack Up Your Troubles." He writes, plans and assists in the direction of his comedies. Off the screen he is a quiet English gentleman who spends hours talking of his native land, but he loves America none the less. On the screen he is a dumb, witless, innocent vagabond.

CONTINENTAL LETTER

Political Uncertainty in France: Negro Boxer's Victory: Million Unemployed in Italy: Hitler in Conference: Trotsky's Tragedy: Strange Strike at Prague: Big Storm at Lisbon

PARIS

Paris, January 17.—The Boncour Government's fate is still in the balance as a result of the Cabinet's final approval of the Finance Minister's proposals for balancing the budget on which to-day's morning papers carry extensive comments.

Le Nouvelliste and other papers close to the Government are the only ones to express unqualified approval of M. Cheron's drastic scheme which, they insist, presents the only possible exit from the rather muddled financial situation. All other papers, including Le Matin, forecast serious conflicts as a result of the Finance Minister's insistence upon paring down the salaries of the civil servants and the war pensions even though the plan was "sugar-coated" with the announcement of the planned institution of a state lottery.

The organs of the Right take violent exception to the 700,000,000 Francs reduction in the defence estimates, while the Socialist organs emphasize the need to reduce the army estimates still further.

In these circumstances it is difficult to see how the Government expects to mobilize in the Chamber a majority for M. Cheron's programme inasmuch as a two-thirds majority is required for rushing the scheme through the Chamber which is understood to be extremely reluctant to agree as the deputies are being deluged with protests against the Government's plan from all parts of the country and from all classes of the populace.

The Armament's Trade.

The Government to-day sanctioned the formation of a committee to study thoroughly all questions relating to the manufacture and sale of firearms and the trade in weapons of all sorts. The committee will be under the supervision of the war-council and will include representatives of both the Government and the General Staff, as well as M. L. Jomiaux, Secretary-General of the Federation of Trade Unions and the Geneva delegates, M. Aubert.

The committee will also take part in the deliberations on the final text of the French disarmament and security plan destined for Geneva.

A Boxing Hub-bub!

Great excitement reigns in the sporting world here as a result of last night's scenes in the Palais des Sports where the Cuban negro boxer, Kid Tornero, was awarded the decision on points against the Frenchman, Marcel Thil, the holder of the world middleweight championship.

The crowd violently disagreed with the referee's decision and rioting ensued on an unprecedented scale both within and around the Palais des Sports, necessitating the interference of the Police.

The sentiment of the spectators is shared by foreign Press correspondents present at the bout, who state that the referee's decision has wronged Marcel Thil and that at least a draw should have been declared.

ROME

Unemployment Increasing.

Rome, January 17.—The tide of unemployment is steadily increasing in Italy, the number of unemployed workers having, according to latest official returns, reached a total of 1,130,000 on December 31.

MADRID

Snow in Spain.

Madrid, January 18.—The quite unusual spectacle of snow-covered streets, trees and roofs offered itself to the people in the Spanish capital when they awoke this morning, the cold weather prevailing throughout Europe having brought about heavy snowfalls in Northern Spain and the Castilian plains. In Madrid the roof of a circus collapsed under the burden of snow while shipping in the harbour of Vigo is paralyzed by a blinding snowstorm.

BERLIN

Political Chiefs Confer.

Berlin, January 17.—Two more highly significant though still rather mysterious interviews between Adolf Hitler and two leading politicians have taken place to-day and have further added to the uncertainty of the political situation.

The first one was between the National Socialist chief and his ex-lieutenant Gregor Strasser in Weimar, the meeting being at first denied by both sides but at last admitted by the National Socialists.

The second interview came even more unexpectedly, between Hitler and Hugenburg, the leader of the National People's Party. According to reports from a reliable private source, Adolf Hitler called on Herr Hugenburg this afternoon and discussed with him the political situation. On both sides, however, the strictest discretion is being maintained regarding what has been going on between the two men and whether anything definite was agreed upon.

It was already noticed during the Lippe election campaign that a tacit understanding existed between the National Socialists and the Hugenburg party to abstain from such extremely bitter and violent attacks on each other as marked the last general elections.

Whether Hitler lent a willing ear to this suggestion is, however, not known, but in circles usually well informed as to his intentions, it is again stressed that he is resolved, come what may, to continue the attitude of determined opposition to the present Government.

Though the hope has not yet been abandoned to find a compromise solution between Hitler and the Chancellor, parliamentary circles incline more and more to the view that an early dissolution of the Reichstag is now almost unavoidable. Chancellor von Schleicher will not seek a conflict with the Reichstag, as he considers that a new election campaign could not but contribute to the again increasing most undesirable political ferment, besides from hampering the revival of business, but on the other hand, he will not shirk from fighting if a conflict is imposed upon him.

Death of Trotsky's Daughter.

Berlin, January 18.—In a passionate letter addressed to the central committee of the Russian Communist Party, Leon Trotsky accuses Joseph Stalin of having caused the death of his daughter, daughter Sinada who recently committed suicide in a Berlin suburb in a mood of depression caused by prolonged illness.

According to Berliner Zeitung am Mittag Trotsky in his letter, a copy of which he forwarded to his German translator, charges Stalin with having conspired with the police of the capitalist countries in persecuting himself and his family. By depriving his daughter of her Soviet citizenship, the Soviet authorities prevented her from returning to Russia, which, so Trotsky asserts, the German physicians had declared to be the only means for saving her life. Having abandoned all hope of returning to her old life in Russia and of rejoining her husband and children, his daughter had finally sought refuge in death, but, so the letter concludes, it would be untrue to say that she died voluntarily, the truth being that death was forced upon her by Stalin.

PRAGUE

Strange Strike Scenes.

Prague, January 17.—Probably the strangest of strikes ever witnessed has broken out here to-day, accompanied by extensive disorders and unique street scenes.

Taxi-drivers, char-a-banc owners, and a number of private car owners were striking as a protest against the almost unbearable taxes on motor-cars and gasoline. The movement speedily extended over the whole country and the city streets were choked with motor vehicles refusing to move, including some ten thousands of cars and buses from the country districts as far as the Carpathians from where they had travelled, often through snow-blocked streets. All efforts of the police to get the drivers to move ahead were met with cries of derision. A huge meeting took place to-day on an island in the Moldau River. The mob then showed large autobuses, crossways over the streets thus blocking them completely.

When the police and firemen tried to move them away, the mob resisted, whereupon the police charged the chauffeurs with drawn swords, wounding a number and making many arrests.

LISBON

An Amazing Storm.

Lisbon, January 17.—The capital was visited to-day by a cyclone of rare violence and the worst for many years past.

Telephone cables were torn down, trees uprooted and roofs blown off the houses in various parts of the city. The ships in the harbour suffered severe damage. Six lighters sank, their crews being rescued under the greatest difficulties. One large liner tried to ride out the storm.

IMPERSONATING A POLICE OFFICER

CHINESE SENTENCED

Sentence of three months' hard labour was imposed by Mr. Wynne Jones at Central Magistracy yesterday on a Chinese who was found guilty on a charge of having impersonated a police officer.

Detective Sergeant Murphy appeared for the prosecution and the defendant was represented by Mr. M. A. da Silva.

According to the prosecution, the defendant was stated to have visited the second floor of No. 8, Sai Street, on the evening of January 14, and after searching the three cubicles on the premises, told the occupants that he was looking for opium.

On the principal tenant denying that there was any in the house, the defendant then took out a book and demanded $10, at the same time stating that, as the occupants usually paid this amount to policemen, they should pay it to him as he was a policeman.

The occupants denied this and became suspicious. There was a heated argument and the defendant was held until the police, who had been informed of the matter, arrived and took him into custody.

After the witnesses for the prosecution had given evidence, Mr. Silva put his client into the witness box. The story he told was that he was instructed by a policeman, whom he did not know, to go up to the house in question and see if there was any opium on the premises or any gambling going on. He did so and was set upon by the occupants. He denied having impersonated a policeman, and the reason why the charge was trumped up was because the occupants wanted to hide their guilt.

His Worship, however, found the defendant guilty, and passed sentence as stated.

tornado as she was unable to enter the harbour.

Whether any loss of life was incurred is not certain at the moment, but the first-aid stations were kept busy with attending to injured people. The amount of the material damage done is variously estimated and in any case is considerable.

GENEVA

St. Bernard Monks "Migrate" to Tibet.

Geneva, January 18.—Two monks of the famous St. Bernard monastery, the Fathers Melly and Coquoz, accompanied by two lay brothers, left for Tibet to-day where, on the Ihaasa Pass, in an altitude of 13,000 feet, the order will build a new monastery to continue its traditional work of bringing succor to and of rescuing straying wanderers with the assistance of their famous dogs, a work which no longer has the importance in Switzerland which it had for centuries past, but with the advance of civilization the St. Bernard Pass is no longer dangerous even in winter time, when scores of automobiles pass daily by the monastery.

The order expects that the Himalaya monastery will be finished in three years when all the monks and lay brothers will emigrate to Tibet.

TROPICAL MEDICINE

Sir A. Chamberlain's Appeal

THE PROBLEM OF MALARIA

Sir Austen Chamberlain, chairman of the Court of Governors of the London School of Hygiene and Tropical Medicine, speaking at the annual meeting of the Court said that through the generosity of the Rockefeller Foundation, they were in possession of a magnificent institution, specially built for its work and beautifully equipped. They had to thank the Rockefeller Trustees not merely for their original endowment, but for continuing help to tide them over the difficulties of the present time. But he confessed that he felt some shame in having to appeal again to the Foundation on behalf of an institution placed in the heart of another Empire, and in a country which was not the country of Rockefeller. It was up to this country and the British Empire to see that the funds for the current expenditure of the institution and for its development should be found from British sources.

"The Prudential" Aid.

Expressing gratitude to the Prudential Assurance Company, which has endowed what will be named "The Prudential Chair of Public Health" in the school for a term of seven years, Sir Austen invited other institutions of a similar kind to consider whether it was not in the interest of those whom they represented also to support the work of a school of public hygiene and tropical medicine. In these days, business of every character tended more and more to be conducted by great companies and corporations. It was necessary to look increasingly to the directors of these great concerns to do, in the name of all their shareholders, that which used to be done by the individual, but now, like the business themselves, could be done only by corporate effort. Reduced to its bare minimum, without any further development, the income of the school was £10,000 a year too little to meet its expenditure. They must at least fill that gap.

The Late Sir Ronald Ross.

In the field of tropical medicine, the late Sir Ronald Ross did a great work by his studies in malaria, but to suppose, as the speaker found some uninstructed people did, that the problem of malaria was solved was wholly to (Continued on next column.)

"THE CARAVAN" ROBBERY

FURTHER LOSS REPORTED

In connection with the robbery at "The Caravan," an Oriental goods shop on the ground floor of the Peninsula Hotel in which about $5,000 worth of property was stolen, a further loss of about $1,000 has been reported to the Police.

It will be recalled that the robbery was first discovered by the manager, Mr. C. M. Hall, at about 10 o'clock on Sunday morning when approximately 150 rings of various designs and settings were stolen. Police were immediately informed, and investigations showed that entry had been gained by one of the two doors which give admission to the shop, and that a duplicate key must have been used.

misunderstand that problem. He would not say that there was more malaria in the world to-day than when Sir Ronald Ross made his discovery, but he thought it would puzzle anyone to prove that there was less. Special steps were being taken in many fields, by the light of that discovery, to keep down or eliminate malaria, but towards the ultimate destruction of the disease they had as yet barely taken the first steps.

The Dean (Professor W.W. Jameson) said that 153 students, giving the whole of their time of their studies, passed through the school course last year—a very considerable number, remembering that appointments in the Colonial services and elsewhere were fewer than in former years. They had opened this session with 88 whole-time students—a very gratifying number would be enrolled in two other courses in this academic year. Their students came from all parts of the world. Last year they had 12 from the United States.

A large Ningpo junk, recently chartered by its owners to a Chinese shipping firm to carry over 1,000 piculs of beans from Dairen to Chikiang, was held up and pirated during the week-end by a band of marauders not far from Woosung. Both the junk and the cargo carried, were taken away by the pirates and the loss is estimated at more than $20,000.

ST. JOHN'S CATHEDRAL

THE ANNUAL GENERAL MEETING

The annual meeting of St. John's Cathedral is to take place at the Cathedral Hall at 4.30 this evening.

The Church Council are looking forward to a really good gathering having in mind the fact that at the meeting held in 1932 a large number of parishioners assembled, thus leading to the meeting a feeling of friendliness, to signify their readiness to back up the concern.

The Electoral Roll

This yearly meeting is the only occasion that members of the Electoral Roll are afforded the opportunity of showing that they do take an interest in St. John's as the church of the parish in which they reside. The Electoral Roll is the name given to the list of Church of England people who are attached to the Cathedral. All that is required of Electors is that they sign a form stating that they are qualified for enrolment by the fact that they are over eighteen years of age and are members of the Anglican body. An appeal has recently been made to all people who regularly attend the services at the Cathedral to enroll themselves, if they have not already done so, provided that they possess the qualifications mentioned above.

At the meeting to be held this evening tea will be served first at the hour stated earlier in this announcement, and the actual work of discussing Cathedral affairs will commence at 5.15 when reports will be presented showing how matters stand regarding the work already accomplished by the Church locally and what is hoped can be undertaken during the present year. This meeting should throw certain light on the aspirations, both spiritual and material, of the Church Council and clergy of our parish church. Other business to be discussed and arranged, and probably the most important, is the election of the Cathedral Council for 1933.

CATHEDRAL WEDDING

KAY-WILLIAMS

St. John's Cathedral was beautifully decorated with chrysanthemums and yellow gladioli for the wedding yesterday of Mr. W. Kay and Miss Grace Kathleen Williams. Mr. Kay is now the Headmaster of the Ellis Kadoorie School and will take over the Headmastership of Queen's College in the absence on leave of Mr. de Rome. The bride is the daughter of Captain and Mrs. Williams of Warwickshire, England.

The Rev. Noel Evans, assistant headmaster of the Ellis Kadoorie school, officiated, assisted by Dean Swann who gave the address. The service was fully choral.

The bride was piped into the Cathedral by Mr. H. C. Watson, veterinary surgeon to the Dairy Farm & Cold Storage Co.

The bride, who was given away by Capt. Cannon, looked very lovely in her exquisitely cut white satin dress. A modern note was struck in what was otherwise the traditional bridal gown, by the sleeves being puffed just above the elbow, and the very pretty cut at the neck. The yoke and top part of the sleeves were of lace. An open cap of orange blossom was secured her long veil of embroidered net. Her bouquet was a sheaf of white gladioli.

The two bridesmaids, Miss Elsie Lammert and Miss Edna Blackburn, wore charming frocks of pastel blue georgette, with blue lace collars, the sleeves of the latter being hemmed with white fur, silver shoes and wreaths of silver leaves. They carried bouquets of mauve sweetpeas.

Even the bride might well have been jealous of the exquisite gown worn by Mrs. McBride, the matron of honour. It was of parchment coloured angel skin lace having a short cape edged with brown fur. With it Mrs. McBride wore a tiny brown velvet cap and carried a sheaf of yellow brown gladioli.

Mr. "Nick" Carter acted as "best man." A delightful reception at which over two hundred guests, including Sir Robert Ho Tung and Mr. de Martin, Director of Education, were present, was held after the ceremony in the roof garden of the Hong Kong Hotel. After the formal business of handshaking and murmured congratulations, the very enjoyable business of listening to several short and amusing speeches, proposing and acknowledging the traditional toasts, the champagne and the cake, the guests and the wedding party settled down to a tea dance which went with a swing. SNATCHER GETS THREE YEARS

ATTACK ON PEAK AMAH INCIDENT ON HATTON ROAD

Before Mr. Justice Wood at the Criminal Sessions yesterday, Lam Wing was found "guilty" by the jury on a charge of attempting to rob an old woman, Wong Sin at Hatton Road on December 4.

Accused was sentenced to three years' hard labour.

The jury were:—Messrs. A. Macfarlane (foreman), G. Stephen, G. von Ehren, J. W. Morris, W. J. Morris, C. H. Osmund and J. F. Lawrie.

Mr. J. A. Fraser, assistant Attorney General, for the Crown said that the woman was an amah, 57 years of age and a Christian. She was employed on the Peak, and on the morning in question she was walking down Hatton Road to chapel, wearing on her wrists two jade bracelets which could only have been removed with the use of soap. In her left hand she carried a purse containing a small sum of money, about $3.50 wrapped in a handkerchief.

Near the nullah in Hatton Road she met a man whom she recognised as a defendant because of a certain growth on his face.

He was walking up the road and in his hand he had a grass-cutting knife. The woman walked on until she reached Nullah No. 41, and then she heard the sound of approaching foot-steps. She turned and saw the accused who caught hold of her jacket and forced her head forwards. She fell the accused attempted to snatch her purse. He released her jacket and she got up. He next held her by the back of her girdle and gave her a push. She fell over the retaining wall into some brushwood, a drop of seven or eight feet. When she picked herself up and had clambered back on to the road she saw the accused running away up the hill. She lost her spectacles when she fell and also one of her bracelets.

She went to a house further down the road and on the way met two European men who returned with her to the scene of the struggle. They helped her find her spectacles but could not find the bracelet. It was not alleged by the prosecution that the accused took the bracelet.

The police were informed and the next day, they arrested the accused, who was identified by the complainant.

When charged he said: "I did not assault her but I wanted to snatch something from her."

At the close of the evidence for the prosecution yesterday, accused stated that he had made the admission because he was assaulted by the Police who had threatened to break two of his ribs if he did not confess.

After his Lordship had addressed the jury, the latter retired for half an hour and brought in a unanimous verdict of guilty against the accused.

TRADE MARK INFRINGEMENT

CHINESE COMPANY FINED

The Manager of the Kak Lan Company at 182 Shanghai Street Yaumatei was fined $100 and ordered to pay $100 costs by Mr. H. R. Butters at Kowloon Magistracy for infringement of two trade marks of Messrs Patons and Baldwin, manufacturers of "B.B." "Lighthouse" and "Beehive" wool.

The defendant pleaded guilty.

Mr. H. J. Armstrong, who appeared for the complainants, said that two hanks of wool were recently purchased from the defendant's shop. The trade mark of the complainants' firm was affixed to them. One was opened and found to contain another mark "Steger and Company." The outside wrapper was genuine but the wool had obviously been changed.

Mr. W. A. Kaerton, Far Eastern Representative for the complainants' firm, said that the firm had a large business in Hong Kong both for the "B.B." and "Lighthouse." He testified that the wool with the mark "Steger and Co." was definitely not the wool of his company. The texture, he said, was different.

Referring to the "Beehive" mark, witness said that he accompanied Sergeant Hunter to the defendant's shop where he found a considerable quantity of wool purporting to be "Beehive." The tickets were "forgeries" and almost impossible for the public to detect.

SEVEN YEARS' HARD LABOUR

CONVICT SENTENCED AT CRIMINAL SESSIONS

MURDEROUS ATTACK RECALLED

"You are already serving five years' imprisonment with hard labour for armed robbery and you have continuously been troublesome in gaol," said Mr. Justice Wood yesterday to Tso Kau, who appeared at the Criminal Sessions on a charge of wounding a prisoner in Victoria Gaol with intent to cause him grievous bodily harm. The prisoner pleaded guilty.

Mr. Fraser, at the request of the Puisne Judge, read the prisoner's record which showed that the man had forfeited many good conduct marks for unruly behaviour in prison.

His Lordship: "You have used the axe on a fellow prisoner and you have done him damage that probably last for life. The sentence I pass upon you is that you be imprisoned for seven years with hard labour, the sentence to run consecutively with your present sentence."

On December 7, 1932, Tso Kau while serving a sentence of five years' hard labour for armed robbery in 1929, attacked a short term prisoner named Tam Tak with an axe, and inflicted serious injuries as a result of which Tam Tak had spent many weeks in hospital. Medical opinion was to the effect that the injured man might never again be able to use one of his arms.

BRIBE INSTEAD OF ARREST

CHINESE CONSTABLE CHARGED

The story of how a Chinese constable, after arresting a man and a woman who had in their possession 30 tins of prepared opium, demanded a bribe instead of handing them over to the proper authorities was related to Mr. W. Schofield at Central Magistracy yesterday, when the constable charged was charged with demanding a bribe of $250.

Detective Sergeant Fitches prosecuted, and the defendant was represented by Mr. F. H. Loseby.

It was stated by the prosecution that the man and the woman while walking in Circular Pathway on the afternoon of January 14 were met by the accused who, it was alleged, stated that he was a policeman and asked them to follow him. Apparently having a guilty conscience, (they were later found with 20 tins of opium in their possession), they followed the accused without asking any questions. They then went to a restaurant where the accused was alleged to have suggested that the woman who had the opium in her possession at that time, should hand it over to the man, and go out to find the man's nephew with a view of getting $250. If that sum were paid they could be released.

The accused then took the man to a house in Circular Pathway, and kept him there until 11 o'clock that night, when another Chinese detective who apparently have heard of the matter, came and took the man to the police station.

As a result of further enquiries the accused was arrested and charged.

The man in question then gave evidence, and had not yet finished when the case was adjourned.

HAUL OF HEROIN PILLS

CASE AGAINST CHINESE CONSTABLE COLLAPSES

A successful contention by Mr. P. O. E. Randall that the chain of evidence against the defendant was incomplete resulted in the acquittal of a Weihsai constable, attached to the anti-piracy ship's guard on the s.s. "Anhui," who was charged before Mr. Schofield at Central Magistracy yesterday with being in "unlawful possession" of 1099 heroin pills.

Mr. Randall said that the evidence of the Chief Officer of the steamer, who found the bags and the evidence of Revenue Officer Humphreys, who received the pills in the final stage before sending them to the Government Analyst, was incomplete as nothing was said as to what happened during the period when the contraband was alleged to have been brought ashore. There was no evidence that the gunny bags were in the same condition as when found.

Mr. Randall further pointed out that the defendant was charged with being in "unlawful possession" of 1099 heroin pills, and that the evidence against him was incomplete as nothing was said as to what happened during the period when the contraband was alleged to have been brought ashore.

Mail News from China

SINO-JAPANESE TARIFF AGREEMENT

CHINESE MERCHANTS AGAINST RENEWAL

Nanking, Jan. 19.—It is understood that the Government has received a number of telegrams from commercial organizations throughout the country urging that the Sino-Japanese Tariff Agreement, which is due to expire on May 10 next, should not be renewed. It is pointed out in these telegrams that reciprocal tariff agreements can be based only upon the spirit of mutual friendship. With the Japanese steadily extending their military aggressions against China, it would be idle to talk of friendship. The telegrams urge therefore that when the agreement expires, China should refuse to renew it or to negotiate a new Treaty.—Kuo Min.

FUND FOR RELIEF OF REFUGEES

PEIPING LANDLORDS ASKED TO CONTRIBUTE

Peiping, Jan. 19.—The Citizens' Self-Defense Committee at Peiping at a meeting yesterday decided to collect the equivalent of one month's rentals from landlords as a contribution toward the fund for the relief of refugees. A contribution list has also been opened under the auspices of local public bodies for the purchase of anti-aircraft guns to protect the city.

Fur caps and gloves, 10,000 of each, have been purchased by the Peiping Chamber of Commerce for the soldiers at the front while 5,000 fur vests are also being made at Kalgan for the same purpose.—Kuo Min.

C.N. AVIATION CORPORATION

AIR-MAIL POSTAGE RATES RAISED

Nanking, Jan. 19.—With the approval of the Ministry of Communications, the China National Aviation Corporation announced to-day that air mail postage rates for letters will be increased as from February 1 next.

According to the new rates, an increase of ten cents will be charged by the Post Office for every 1,000 kilometers. Thus, the rate from Shanghai to Peiping, the distance between which is 1,300 kilometers, will be 25 cents instead of 15 cents. Newspapers and printed matter, however, will not be subject to this increase.

The new rates will apply to both the Shanghai-Peiping and Shanghai-Hankow airways.—Kuo Min.

RADIO STATIONS FOR N.W. AIRWAY ROUTE

Nanking, Jan. 19.—Arrangements having been made with the Sinkiang Provincial Government, the Eurasia Aviation Corporation has despatched engineers and radio operators to Thua and Hami for the installation of radio stations there for the North-western Airway.—Kuo Min.

GIRL STUDENT KILLED

WHEN SCHOOL ROOF COLLAPSED

Changsha, Jan. 18.—One girl student was killed and 10 others injured in an accident which occurred here yesterday as a result of the recent heavy snowfall.

Students of the Girls Provincial Second Middle School here were assembled for supper last evening when the roof of the dining room caved in under the heavy weight of snow accumulated on the roof of the house. Of those injured, one is reported to be in a serious condition.

For the past two days snow has been falling abundantly. River traffic is at a standstill as the blizzard renders navigation hazardous while many of the smaller waterways are frozen.—Kuo Min.

TO ASSIST HIGHWAY PROGRAMME

Nanking, Jan. 19.—In order to assist the completion of the highway programme, the National Highway Bureau has decided to organize a committee of technical experts composed of ten members.—Kuo Min.

CANTON NOTES

Invitation To Mr. Bernard Shaw

CANTON, Jan. 23. Mr. Tsim Kuk Chi, Director of the Municipal Bureau of Social Affairs, has invited Mr. George Bernard Shaw to give a lecture here when visiting South China next month. The invitation, asked for guidance from such an authority on plays in the matter of instituting a new era for the theatre in China.

Railway Tests

A satisfactory trial run took place, a few days ago, on the Shikwan-Laiotau section of the Shikwan-Chingchow Railway. This section it is reported will be open for traffic on February 1. In the meantime work is taking place on the Laiotau-Lock Chang section, and it is expected this section will be completed by June.

Shekpi Race Course

The first horse race at the Shekpi race course, will be held in March, according to the Canton Municipal Government. A commission headed by Dr. Wu Paak Shiang will be in charge of the preparations of the new course.

To Purchase a Plane

The students and teachers of the local Municipal schools, at a meeting last Friday, made plans for the subscription of $900,000 to purchase a military aeroplane for the local Government.

The Canton Trust Company

The Canton Trust Co. has removed to more commodious premises and the company has widened its scope of activities to Trust, Banking, Architecture and Contract.

Among the buildings designed by the Canton Trust Co. are the Lingnan University system, Canton Hospital, several other hospitals and the Telephone Administration Office in Swatow.

Water Transport

It is reported that there are now 17 boats and 2 steamers on the Canton-Sze-yang route. Water transportation to Sze-yang is the only means of travel available. The 17 boats are doing plenty of business this time of the year. The total number of boats on the route is 7 to Kungmoon, 2 to Shuihow, 1 to Sunchow, 2 to Changsha, 2 to Kungyok City. The two steamers, the Yuet On and Tai Chung, with speeds of 9 and 11 knots and accommodation for 300 and 400 passengers, respectively, run between Canton, Kungmoon and Sunchow.

CLASH NEAR NANLING

JAPANESE PLANES BOMB FOWHSIN

Peiping, Jan. 18.—Considerable activity is reported on the various fronts as more Japanese troops arrive. Under cover of armoured cars, Japanese soldiers attacked the Chinese line at Sanpangyats near Nanling yesterday. After a brief clash, the Japanese retreated to their original posts.

A message from Changde, Jehol, reports that the situation at Ling-yuan continues tense. Three Japanese airplanes dropped 30 heavy bombs over Fowhsin, eastern Jehol, yesterday, inflicting heavy damages on the villages. Another squadron of seven planes raided Cheungping and Hsiawo.—Kuo Min.

JAPANESE PLANES AT SHANHAIKWAN

Peiping, Jan. 19.—One Japanese troop train carrying seven air planes and six tanks reached Shanhaikwan yesterday. In anticipation of a counter-attack by the Chinese troops, the Japanese have laid mines at the four gates of Shanhaikwan and erected strong entrenchments.—Kuo Min.

LABELS FOR HOME PRODUCTS

Nanking, Jan. 19. All products of factories must hereafter bear labels either on the packages or on the product themselves showing the weight or quantity of the contents. According to a set of new measures drafted by the standardization of industrial products throughout the country, the measures also require such quantity or weight to be expressed in the new system of metric weights and measures promulgated by the Government.—Kuo Min.

COUNT UCHIDA'S SPEECH.

COUNT UCHIDA may go down to history as the PALMERSTON of Japan. The Foreign Minister has a suavity and a polish, lacking in the blunt Victorian, but, after making due allowance for the traditional differences between East and West, there is something in common between the two men. Both will be classed as the mouthpieces of a belligerent period in the development of their respective countries. Expansion was in the air and Empire building was proceeding without much regard either for tender susceptibilities, or for distant dangers. They will be called the servants of their age, strong-men, who knew what they wanted and meant what they said. That is better than having weaknesses at the helm in time of crisis. If the League is urging moderation upon Count UCHIDA, his own jingoes are hot for grandiose projects. While he rebuffs the former, he will also hold the latter in check.

Count UCHIDA repeats that he considers the "independence" of Manchuria under its own Government to be the only practical way of securing peace in the Far East. Such an end cannot be obtained without Japanese aid and therefore that aid is forthcoming. Manchuria was virtually independent and administered more or less satisfactorily while CHANG Tso Lin was in power. The young Marshal one for Manchukuo to settle. Judgment on the question is, however, duly passed.

"Viewed historically there is no room for doubt as to the fact that the Great Wall marks the boundary separating China from Manchuria and Mongolia. Particularly in the light of the circumstances leading to the establishment of Manchukuo, it is evident that Jehol constitutes an integral part of the new State."

History is a matter less of fact than of opinion. Let us leave it at that.

Count UCHIDA adds:—

"Chinese troops are of late in the process of concentration near the borders of Manchukuo, and some of them have, as I have already stated, invaded the Province of Jehol. The Japanese Government cannot look upon such a state of affairs in China without the gravest apprehension. We are compelled to warn the Government and people of China against any unfortunate eventualities that may arise from the situation, and we invite them to think seriously before proceeding further in that direction."

Could anything be plainer than that? If China calls up big battalions she knows what to expect. On the other hand, Japan has no territorial ambition! She is not, therefore, going to annex the whole of China, North of the Yellow River, though, of course, if the Chinese Government is provocative, military precautions, on the requisite scale will be taken.

Count UCHIDA is equally explicit in his message to the Powers, individually, and in Council at Geneva.

"Any attempt to apply the Covenant of the League to the abnormal situation in China on the analogy of an apparently similar case or situation in European affairs is bound to fail. Such an attempt is vain and unrealistic. It will only complicate and aggravate the situation, and injure needlessly the prestige of the League, inflicting thereby a severe blow to the cause of universal peace."

Japan, in fact, will not draw the sword, unless she is compelled. The British public once gave vent to similar sentiments, in less polished phrase, when PALMERSTON's disciple, BENJAMIN DISRAELI, was Prime Minister of England.

"We don't want to fight, But by jingo if we do, We've got the men, we've got the ships."

The Foreign Minister at Tokyo, expresses with the delicate temper of a Japanese sword, that his country is not going to force what Europe gained in the nineteenth century, merely because she has arrived a few years late in the field.

Count UCHIDA does not cite precedents, but he has a good conscience. He is a good man, and a good statesman.

What is the new principle that he is advocating?

It is the principle of the "status quo ante bellum."

"CARNATION" MILK

TRADE MARK CASE FAILS

The manager of the Pavittar Store of 55, Austin Road, Kowloon, was summoned before Mr. Wynne-Jones at Central Magistracy yesterday by the General Milk Company, proprietors of the Carnation trade mark for having in their possession tins of milk bearing a mark similar to the Carnation milk.

Mr. T. P. Kemble appeared for the complainants and Mr. G. K. Hall Brutton represented the defendants.

Mr. Kemble, in opening the case for the complainants, said that as a result of information received, Mr. Feldman, the manager of the General Milk Co. went to the defendant's store and warned him that the marks were infringements of the Carnation trade marks.

Evidence was then given by Mr. Feldman, who remarked that the Carnation milk was known among the Chinese as the "Fa muk" (flower brand), although the invoices described Carnation milk as Kuk Fa (Chrysanthemum), owing to its similarity to that flower. This was to distinguish the Carnation brand from the Peony and Gloria brands of the same company.

Summons Dismissed.

On being informed by Mr. Brutton that an application had been made to register the Pavittar Tulip Brand, his Worship dismissed the summons. He said it was a "border line" case and as Mr. Brutton had assured him that an application had been made, he would let the defendant go this time.

LOOKING BACK 75 YEARS

In our issue of the 12 instant we denominated Dr. Parker and Dr. Bowring diplomatic pigs. There is surely as much latitude to be allowed in describing people in a diplomatic sense, as there is in a Pickwickian sense. Whether we were justified in resorting to such a term as pig, at least, in so far as one of these doctors is concerned, let the following fact illustrate.

In the British Peerage are two families named Parker. One is a Scottish Peerage (The Earl of Argyll) created 1784; the other an English Peerage (the Earl of Maclesfield) created 1716.

Now, if Doctor Parker really had any claim to be descended from either of these noble families, his using the crest would be a perfectly reasonable piece of vanity; but surely he cannot claim to be descended from both, there being neither consanguinity nor other connection between the two houses. Yet the honourable and learned chivalric divine, actually sported a coat of arms blending the fields of both houses in it, and using the motto of Morley over the crest of Maclesfield. The motto is "Fideli certantes" (for the faithful man there is certain reward). Few people can be found to contradict that, but we submit that Doctor Parker has about as much right to apply the maxim to himself, as he has to porlein and amalgamate these armorial bearings. This is priggish, Q.E.D.—Hongkong Daily Press, Jan. 24, 1933.

Looking Back 25 Years.

The following have been chosen by the Selection Committee to play for the Hongkong Football Club v. A. O. Cameron Highlanders at Happy Valley, to-day:—F. H. Kew; E. F. Aucott (Capt.); H. L. Garrett; J. Hall; T. Weill and A. Gregory; W. H. Williams; O. Eager; J. Mead; R. E. Turner and L. F. Wishart.

The Shanghai Football team is due here by the French Mail on the 2nd February. On the 3rd they play the Hongkong Football Club at 4.30 p.m. on the Chung King Road on the 4th the United Services. They are to be entertained at dinner in the Hongkong Hotel in the evening of the 4th and will probably leave again for the North on the following day.—Hongkong Daily Press, Jan. 24, 1933.

is enough. Here is no crude talk of shining armour, only an outline of premises whose deductions are plain. The strong man armed speaks quietly, because he has no need to raise his voice.

Count UCHIDA's speeches are models of the art of eloquence. How neatly each subject is discussed and dismissed! The perorations are always in the classic manner, with sonorous rhetoric about peace and Utopian splendour for the whole world; after the manner of the prophet who saw the lion and dragon, lamb and hog-killed down together. There is nothing that Japan would like better, provided, when the happy day dawns, she is still the lion. There is food for thought in this speech. Not a few men, too, with Count UCHIDA, in this policy of settlement of the triple tension, among the Far Eastern Powers, Japan, China and Russia. Others fear a sowing of "Japan's" seed, and a consequent sowing of "armed men." It does not seem that the new principle

Oast—All Wrong!

The movie manager was furious. "What's the matter?" asked his assistant. "Is anything wrong?" "Anything wrong!" he snorted. "Why, you've advertised for next week: 'Smiling Eyes—with a strong cast!'"

Prisoner's Base.

It is not usual to hear of anything amusing from a prison, but the following is a true story. A Deputy Governor, on examining a newly arrived short term prisoner, asked him whether he proposed to appeal against his sentence. He replied, "No fear, sir, my dividends don't come due until the 1st of January!"

Innocent Home Life!

Dean Inge glorified Victorian parents in a sermon at Croydon Parish Church.

He advised men and women getting on in years to think of their first home in Queen Victoria's reign, with all its little restraints, repressions, and pruderies. Yet how solidly grounded it was; how wholesomely disciplined, and how restful and innocent.

"And the dear people of the older generation who brought us up with such care," he said, "how quaintly unlike the men and women of to-day, but how good and lovable, and how anxious to do their best for us."

"I think they did more for their children than most parents do now."

Economy Ends!

Old Oxonians will be interested to hear that the economy move at Oxford is at an end, and college commemoration balls, which were vetoed last year on the ground of expense, will be held again this year.

This decision followed a recent meeting instigated by members of Christ Church, whose hall is always one of the most brilliant of these functions.

There will be a new policy, however. Colleges will co-operate instead of competing against each other as in the past.

Careful consideration will be given to the cost of bands and other items before definite arrangements are made. In the past the different items have been ordered in a haphazard manner.

College balls have been run principally by undergraduates in the past, but this year senior members of the colleges will take part in the arrangements to a greater extent.

Seething!

"I don't think many young girls will walk out with the Tommy to-day if we are going to dress soldiers up in a costume which is a mixture of convict and Poacher." This criticism of the new Army uniform was passed by Sir Philip Hunkle, master of the King's yacht, Britannia, at Calne last stock show dinner. The Duke of Beaufort said that he hoped we were not going to see the Army "dressed up in that so-called uniform."

Navy Tradition.

The Earl of Medina, aged 13 years, the heir of the Marquess of Milford Haven, is among those who have passed the qualifying examination, and enter the Royal Naval College, Dartmouth, this month.

The young Earl of Medina is thus following in the footsteps of his father, who holds the rank of Commander and saw service at the battles of Heligoland, the Dogger Bank, and Jutland. He is a grandson of Prince Louis of Battenberg, who was First Sea Lord at the outbreak of war.

Man Who Fendles Tigers.

Behind the scenes at London's circus at Olympia there is a man "in charge of the animals"—Herr Matthies.

He is an animal trainer. Lions, tigers, bears and elephants have performed in the ring under his direction in all parts of the world. Thirteen of the tigers at Olympia have been trained by him.

He stood in front of the tigers' cage and lifted off one of the iron shutters which enclosed it. Thrusting his hand between the bars he tweaked the whiskers of one animal, patted the neck of another and stroked the nose of a third, and they seemed to like it.

He takes a revolver with him into the ring but it contains only blank cartridges.

"The animals are safe enough in the ordinary way," he said, "but if they hurt themselves they attack the first person available." Herr Matthies was once hung over by a tiger which pinned him to the floor and mauled him. A quiet word from him when everyone else lost their heads, however, sent the tiger slinking to its corner, but the incident kept him laid up for six weeks.

MR. G. B. SHAW IN INDIA

Piquante Advice To Patriots

ADMIRATION FOR GANDHI

Bombay, Jan. 8.—Mr. Bernard Shaw parried Indian interviewers who approached him this morning for his views on Indian Self-Government by shrewdly questioning them on the work of present self-governing institutions, particularly the Bombay Municipality. Seated in the lounge of the tourist steamer Empress of Britain Mr. Shaw said:—

"Enlightened Indians have the great power of speaking. Scratch an Indian and he reels off seventeen volumes of Herbert Spencer. The first thing self-governing India must do is to make public-speaking a capital offence. Brain power also is not required," continued Mr. Shaw, "as England has got on well all these years without brains. Gandhi is the clearest-headed man in India, but every man I see in Bombay is not Gandhi. He is so tired of you he goes on to fast unto death."

Mr. Shaw was not interested in Indian untouchability.

"We have untouchability in England," he declared. "Ask the labourer who wishes to marry a Duchess' daughter."

Sympathy Will Vanish.

"So long as India is the interesting victim of oppression it will like Ireland have the sympathy of foreign countries, but this will vanish when, like Ireland, you get some measure of liberty. You must get rid of this romantic tradition of liberty. A purely Indian Government will be more tyrannical than an English Government. If India ever gets Dominion Status she will become the head and centre of the British Empire and bully England as the other Dominions bullied her at Ottawa. England will then be faced with the problem of how to separate from India."

Mr. Shaw does not intend to travel through India but he may go to Poona if Gandhi wishes to see him.

ROTARY IN THE EAST

NEW BRANCH SECRETARY TO VISIT HONG KONG

Mr. Douglas C. Howland, Asiatic Secretary of Rotary International, is expected to arrive in India in the early part of this month, and will travel on through India, Ceylon and Malaya to Hong Kong and China. After remaining in China for about two months, he will return to Malaya and India.

According to a Police report, the s.s. Kazoo, a cargo steamer, was grounded just outside the Lyemun Pass on Sunday night. From the meagre details available we learned that the stranding was probably due to engine trouble, and that she was entering the harbour when the accident occurred. Apparently very little damage was done, however, as she managed to free herself last night. Messrs. Williamson & Co. are the local agents for the steamer.

Two Indian constables, Baga and Baga, were charged before Mr. Butten at Kowloon Magistracy yesterday with attempting to obtain "squeeze" money. It was stated by the Police that as a result of a complaint made by the owner of a shooting gallery at the Luchiko Road, to the effect that two Indian constables had obtained "squeeze" money from him, the two constables were charged.

Sentences ranging from six months to 12 months' imprisonment were imposed by Mr. Butten at Kowloon Magistracy yesterday on three men, alleged to be a gang of burglars, on charges of house-breaking and larceny. It was stated that the defendants were taken to the house at No. 58, Lam Street, and No. 107, Canton Road, the property taken from them was not large in both cases.

SUB-COMMITTEE OF NINE APPOINTED AT GENEVA

TO DRAFT FORMULAE OF REPORT ON SINO-JAPANESE DISPUTE

REPORT THAT BRITISH ATTITUDE IS CHANGING

[THROUGH REUTERS' AGENCY.]

GENEVA, January 23. THE Committee of Nineteen has appointed a sub-committee of nine under the presidency of Germany to co-ordinate the draft formulae of the report on the Sino-Japanese dispute under Paragraph IV. of Article XV. which was circulated to members of the committee for private consideration yesterday.

Besides Germany, the sub-committee consists of Britain, France, Belgium, Italy, Switzerland, Czechoslovakia, Sweden and Spain.

WELLINGTON KOO COMMENTS ON UCHIDA SPEECH

GENEVA, Jan. 23.

Commenting on Count Uchida's speech at the Japanese Diet last Friday, which was distributed widely here, Dr. Wellington Koo, the Chinese delegate, accuses Japan of having created the Manchukuo out of Manchuria. On the one hand she signed a treaty with the Manchukuo and on the other, she now asks the world to be prepared for the next step in her programme of expansion in the mainland, namely the invasion and occupation of Jehol. Uchida, he says, has given the whole case away when he pleads for the elasticity of the operation of the League Covenant, thereby virtually admitting that judged by the Covenant as understood by other member states, Japan has flagrantly violated its provisions. Uchida's contentions raise the serious question of Japan's qualifications for continuing to hold the membership of the League of Nations.

MILITARY LEADERS AT NANKING

IMPORTANT CONFERENCES EXPECTED

[THROUGH REUTERS' AGENCY.]

NANKING, Jan. 23.

MARSHAL Chang Hsueh Liang, accompanied by Marshal Tuan Chi Jui, who was Premier of China in the early days of the Republic, arrived in Nanking yesterday, flying from Peiping.

It is learned that the Young Marshal has come to the capital for the purpose of initiating with Marshal Chiang Kai Shek and other military leaders, military and political conferences of momentous importance.

Except to a few high officials, his arrival in Nanking was, however, completely unexpected, so completely that it almost escaped the vigilance of newspapermen.

It is understood that General Feng Yu Hsiang has been invited to join in the conference, which will undoubtedly deal with the critical situation in North China and Jehol.

CONSCRIPTION FOR CHINA?

[THROUGH REUTERS' AGENCY.]

NANKING, Jan. 23.

It is reported that the regulations will be framed with a view to the ultimate introduction of a conscript system.

CHILD MARKET IN SHANGHAI

TWENTY-TWO ARRESTS BY S.M.P. DETECTIVES

Shanghai, January 23.—Raiding an alleged market for the sale of children, detectives of Central Station, S.M.P., made a total of 22 arrests, while three children were found yesterday evening. A Chinese detective, who had been working for the S.M.P. for some time, had been discovered by the S.M.P. and was arrested.

CUSTOMS REVENUE FOR 1932

Decrease 45 Million Hk. Tls.

EFFECT OF MANCHUKUO COUP

Nanking, Jan. 18.—Mr. T. V. Soong, Minister of Finance, today made public the following data of Customs revenue collection in 1932, submitted to him by Sir Frederick W. Maze, Inspector-General of Customs.

"The Maritime Customs revenue for 1932 amounted in round figures to Hk. Tls. 200,230,000. This compares with Hk. Tls. 244,687,000 collected in 1931, and represents a decrease of Hk. Tls. 44,457,000.

"The revenue contributed in 1932 by each category of duties to make up this total is as follows:—

Import duties	165,301,000
(CGU) 130,840,000
Export duties	19,006,000
Import duties	13,191,000
Tonnage dues	2,730,000
	200,230,000

"Of the total import duty collection assessed in terms of CGU and amounting to CGU130,840,000, the amount of CGU105,004,000 was collected in gold and the balance in silver according to ruling exchange rates.

"Owing to the seizure of the Customs at Harbin, Lanchow, Antung, Dairen and Newchwang by the so-called Manchukuo regime, the above statement does not include figures for the Customs collection at these ports subsequent to the month of June, 1932. This seizure, which obtained throughout more than half of the year, reduced 1932 collections by about Hk. Tls. 13,000,000, and not even funds for loan service have been remitted out of subsequent collections.

The Principal Ports.

"The following table shows in round figures the collection for 1932 at the principal ports and the increase or decrease as compared with the figures for 1931:—

Port.	1932	Increase	Decrease
Hk. Tls.	Hk. Tls.	Hk. Tls.	Hk. Tls.
Harbin	1,978,000*	3,311,000
Antung	1,817,000*	1,880,000
Dairen	7,138,000*	5,277,000
Newchwang	1,193,000*	2,604,000
Tientsin	25,000,000	1,666,000
Kianchow	15,503,000	4,000,000
Hankow	8,201,000	1,370,000
Shanghai	63,181,000	32,088,000
Amoy	4,208,000	34,000
Swatow	5,725,000	302,000
Canton	9,281,000	1,874,000
Kowloon	5,587,000	109,000

Foreign Obligations Met.

"All foreign loan and indemnity obligations secured on the Customs revenue, including the service of the Reorganization Loan, have been met in full. The cost of the service of the above obligations was as follows:—G.T. $3,815,996.08 (=Sh. Tls. 50,945,906.00) plus Sh. Tls. 19,748,701.84; or if calculated on an entirely silver basis, Sh. Tls. 70,892,506.14, as compared with Sh. Tls. 116,813,000.00 for 1931.

"Provision was also made in full during the year for the service of all internal loans secured on the Customs revenue. From the month of February, 1932, such provision, in accordance with the terms of the Government's Mandate of February, 1932, has taken the form of a fixed monthly payment of $8,000,000 from Customs revenue to the account of the National Loan Sinking Fund Administrative Commission."—Kuo Min.

COSSACKS DRIVEN FROM HOMES

LANDS CONFISCATED AFTER SENT INTO EXILE

Rostov, Jan. 18.—Every man, woman and child residing in the Cossack settlements of Poltavskaya, Medvedevskaya and Uspenskaya has been exiled and their lands, homes and personal property have been confiscated. Disclosure of this edict, one of the most drastic in the history of Soviet Russia, came today when newspapers here published the formal decree of the local Communist Party.

Communist editors cite the deportations as a salutary example to other recalcitrant villages and allege that the residents of the Kuban villages maltreated members of the Red Army during the civil war.

Under the terms of deportation the property of the exiles is given to war veterans of the Red Army and other loyal elements, who are expected to turn the vacant lands into model Soviet farms.

In one small room they found ten men and seven women, together with a girl aged 11 and a small boy aged two or three. All were taken to the station, and a watch set on the house. Later on a woman with another child arrived.

By 10 p.m. the detectives had arrested four others, including a hotelman alleged to be implicated in the case.

While the detectives were making out their report, a small child, who had been playing in the street, was found lying on the ground.

It is believed that friendly pressure from the United States may have had something to do with this hardening of the British Government's attitude, but it is said also that the reports, which the British Government received from the Far East, have not been without influence.

These reports, it is said, are to the effect that British trade with China will suffer owing to the rearmament on the part of the Chinese at the apparent partiality of the British Government towards Japan and, partly to the effect, that trade will suffer otherwise Japan acquires a too preponderant influence upon the Asiatic continent.

The Manifesto complains that after more than a year, the League has done absolutely nothing to curb the military aggression of the Japanese and the orgy of carnage and wanton destruction which the Japanese military have inflicted on Chinese civilians. It says that with the inability of the League to promote peace and justice, international anarchy has been revived.

The Manifesto also criticises Sir Eric Drummond, Secretary-General of the League, for originating to Japan. It claims that the so-called Drummond formula, if adopted, would mean the complete surrender of the League to Japanese Imperialism. It declares that no resolution will be acceptable to the Chinese nations unless it provides for the withdrawal of Japanese forces from Manchuria, non-recognition and elimination of the puppet Manchukuo and the prevention of further aggravation of the situation by the Japanese military.

In conclusion, the Manifesto urges that China withdraw from the League and seek other just and effective measures for the vindication of the cause of right and justice.—Kuo Min.

JAPAN'S POLICY IN MANCHURIA

Severely Criticised In Diet

FOREIGN OFFICE ACCUSED OF QUIBBLING AT GENEVA

[THROUGH REUTERS' AGENCY.]

Tokyo, Jan. 23. UNUSUALLY blunt questioning of diplomatic affairs marked the afternoon's interpellations in the Diet by the Selyukai spokesman, Mr. Ashida.

Demanding categorical replies from both the Foreign Minister and War Minister whether Japan has a definite foreign policy or whether the Foreign Office is simply following dictation by the Army, Mr. Ashida asserted that Japan is being dragged blindly into an uncharted pitch-dark abyss not knowing in what direction she is being guided.

"Rubber Stamp for War Office." Accusing the Foreign Office of being little more than a rubber-stamp for the War Office, Mr. Ashida asserted that the army holds a virtual monopoly of all important posts in Manchuria and, "although uniformity and co-ordination in Japan's Manchurian policy is the main raison d'être for the existence of the National Cabinet, the impression imbedded in the public mind is that the responsibility for leading Manchuria is shouldered exclusively by the army."

Other points on which Mr. Ashida took the government to task included:—

(1) The unnecessarily intransigent acrimonious attitude at Geneva and quibbling over trifles.

(2) The lack of a fundamental policy toward both the League and Manchuria.

(3) Failure to take any concrete steps to establish friendship and co-operation between Japan, China and Manchukuo, despite Count Uchida's emphasis of the importance thereof.

Stressing the necessity of improving relations with both American and Soviet Russia, Mr. Ashida concluded by declaring it was disgraceful that a situation exists which persuades many to believe the army is responsible for the Country's diplomatic policy.

JAPANESE VERSION OF RECENT NEGOTIATIONS

Tokyo, Jan. 18.—The Foreign Office expressed displeasure at the alleged non-friendly attitude of the Soviet Government, which announced yesterday the progress of Russo-Japanese negotiations for conclusion of a non-aggression pact between the two countries.

Negotiations were interrupted several weeks ago following resumption of Sino-Soviet diplomatic relations. According to a Foreign Office spokesman, the Soviet Government recently proposed to make public the results of negotiations thus far between Tokyo and Moscow and the Japanese Government has been studying the form of the announcement.

The Tokyo Government is today waiting for the official report from Mr. Kofuchi Ohta, new Japanese Ambassador to Moscow, regarding the matter. It is considered the Soviet announcement was favourable only to Russia and plans are being made to give the Japanese version of the matter to the world.

America's Policy. Meanwhile, the Government pays little attention to the report that Colonel Henry L. Stimson, U.S. Secretary of State, has instructed all American Ambassadors and Ministers to explain to European Governments the anti-Manchukuo recognition policy of American.

Japan does not especially want America to extend formal recognition to Manchukuo, the spokesman of the Foreign Office said today. He pointed out that the Japanese Government has been studying the form of the announcement.

BUS DRIVERS ON STRIKE

WEST END ALMOST DESERTED

[THROUGH REUTERS' AGENCY.]

LONDON, Jan. 23. SEVENTY per cent. of London's buses are affected by the strike stoppage, due to the men's objection to the speeding-up schedule. The West End was almost deserted in the absence of traffic last night. No settlement had been reached at midnight.

FINGERPRINTS BY TELEGRAM

"Yard" Uses New System

PUBLIC'S CHRISTMAS GREETINGS

LONDON, Dec. 29.—Considerable use has been made by Scotland Yard recently of the Post Office's picture telegram service.

By its means it is now possible for police headquarters in many parts of Europe to compare fingerprints and photographs of wanted or suspected men in a remarkably brief time.

A representative of The London Daily Telegraph visited the General Post Office and inspected the apparatus which is used for the delicate work. It only takes about twenty minutes for a facsimile of a small subject, such as a finger print, to be transmitted to, for example, Vienna, with the result that Scotland Yard can ascertain within an hour of starting their inquiry whether or not the Austrian police have any record of the person inquired about.

Nor is this by any means the only use of the service, which has now been available to the general public for the past eighteen months. At the present season a number of people are taking advantage of it in order to send Christmas greetings to friends on the Continent.

The procedure is simple, and unique in that there is no need to "post early." Besides the Central Telegraph Office, there are six offices in London from which picture telegrams can be sent, and if they are handed in at the head offices in Birmingham, Edinburgh, Glasgow, Liverpool, Manchester, or Newcastle-on-Tyne, they are forwarded by post to the central office in London and despatched from there.

Within a few minutes of being transmitted, a portrait of the sender, suitably autographed, or a letter of considerable length can be accurately reproduced in cities as far away as Oslo, Munich or Rome.

Novel Transmissions. Press photographs provide most of the work for the operators, but because it makes an absolutely identical reproduction, many firms have taken advantage of the system to transmit pages of complicated accounts and long company prospectuses. There is only one stipulation. The size of each page must not be more than ten inches by seven. If larger pictures have to be sent they must be divided into smaller sections.

A surprising variety of things have been "picture telegraphed" recently, among them: A marriage certificate; A film actress's contract; and A power of attorney.

The last-named came from Berlin and was sent on from London to New York, its destination, by the Marconi process, as picture telegraphy is not yet possible across the Atlantic.

Other documents to be transmitted include designs for fashions which have been rushed from the originator to be reproduced in other countries, blue prints, advertisements, meteorological reports, and maps.

Finally, in order to show the delicacy of the reproduction possible, a dummy cheque has been transmitted to London from the Continent. The signature was perfectly reproduced, but a Post Office official had to admit that he doubted whether, without special arrangements having been made, any bank manager would accept it.

RAILWAY PURCHASING COMMITTEE

NANKING, Jan. 18. Appointment of the following new members of the Purchasing Commission of the Ministry of Railways was announced yesterday: Shen Chang (Chairman), Li Fa Tuan, Chang Pao Hai, Chang Pao Hai, Chang Hsiang Chi and Kwang Ying Chieh.

Li Fa Tuan is to head the Investigation Section, Chang Pao Hai the Auditing Section, and Chang Hsiang Chi the General Section.

CHARGE AGAINST MR. DE VALERA

SETTLEMENT WITH BRITAIN REJECTED

[THROUGH REUTERS' AGENCY.]

DUBLIN, Jan. 22. THE allegation that President Eamon De Valera has rejected the settlement with Britain reached at the Ottawa Conference, has been made by Mr. Devitt, one of the Cosgrave Nationalist candidates for the forthcoming Irish general election.

During a stirring speech at Meath, Mr. Devitt stated that Mr. De Valera was concealing the settlement? He is afraid of men with guns," the speaker said.

"The Irish delegates brought with them from Ottawa, a draft settlement with the British representatives, which Mr. De Valera turned down," Mr. Devitt charged.

Riot at Election Meeting. Fifty persons were injured as the result of a fight at a meeting at Tralee, held by supporters of Mr. Cosgrave, who was one of the speakers.

Motor-cars were stoned and the police used batons to clear the street.

The outbreak followed considerable heckling of Mr. Cosgrave. When the fight broke out, seventy Civil Guards threw a cordon round the streets and restored quiet. Mr. Cosgrave was not injured.

NAZI-COMMUNIST CLASH

SERIOUS SITUATION IN BERLIN

[THROUGH REUTERS' AGENCY.]

BERLIN, Jan. 22. BERLIN came through a day of riotous political antagonism, aroused by the great Nazi rally in Buelow Square, with a toll of thirty-five serious casualties.

Fire brigades were kept extremely busy in the east end of the city, where the Communist gangs set fire to mattresses and built up huge and dangerous bonfires by piling on dustbins and barrels and other inflammable articles, with the object of impeding the march of the Nazis.

Where the situation threatened to get beyond their control as it did on several occasions, the police gave up their attempts to disperse the crowds with baton charges and used their firearms against menacing Communist mobs.

Four Police Stabbed. Four policemen were stabbed in the course of the day. Several Nazis were waylaid and badly mauled by Communist hooligans who worked the side streets in gangs.

Over a hundred arrests were reported by the evening by the police, who were still actively engaged this evening.

Further trouble is to be anticipated this week. The Communists announce that they are staging protest demonstrations to last for a week. The demonstrations will be inaugurated at a great mass meeting to be held on Tuesday outside the former Imperial Palace, provided police permission can be obtained.

March to Cemetery. Ten thousand Nazi assembled in Buelow Square in a show-stunt before the march to the cemetery where Herr Hitler unveiled the memorial to the murdered Nazi, Herr Wessel. The programme was carried through in spite of the Communist interference.

City Passes Quiet Night. Berlin, Jan. 23. Except for a few Nazi-Communist clashes in which four people were wounded and 16 arrested, the city passed a quiet night after disturbances yesterday evening, which were believed to be due to the work.

Keep The Children Healthy

CHILDREN need so much nourishment to re-create the energy they are so prodigal in spending and to build up strong healthy bodies and sound nerves. They need more nourishment than ordinary food provides.

That extra nourishment is supplied most abundantly and in the best possible form by delicious "Ovaltine."

"Ovaltine" stands supreme because it contains only the finest qualities of Nature's best foods—specially prepared malt extract, creamy milk and new-laid eggs.

Quality such as "Ovaltine" provides cannot be sold at a cheaper price. It would be easy to make the price of "Ovaltine" by adding large quantities of cheaper ingredients, such as cocoa, or by rearranging the ingredients. But the result would be a cheap imitation, with its concentrated health and strength giving qualities.

JAPAN'S TRADE IN 1932

SHARP DECLINE IN THE ADVERSE BALANCE

COTTON BOOMING

Tokyo.—It is now confidently believed that Japan's foreign trade through the sixteen principal ports this year will register an adverse balance of about ¥30,000,000. Last year the unfavourable balance was four times as much.

As already noted, exports and imports for the second ten days of December totalled ¥46,254,000 and ¥41,948,000, respectively. Compared with the previous ten days, exports show a decrease of ¥8,337,000 and imports ¥1,791,000, reducing the export excess to only ¥4,306,000. The shrinkage in exports was due to a general fall in raw silk, cotton textiles, silk tissues and other sundry goods. Raw cotton imports were only 246,410 piculs, and to this fact is ascribed the fall in the import total.

The position for the last eleven days of December depends largely on raw cotton imports, but even if imports exceed exports during this period, the gap will not be wide. The adverse balance for the year will then be somewhere about ¥30,000,000 as against ¥80,000,000 last year. This marked improvement is due largely to a record increase in cotton textile exports. The whole situation is well demonstrated in the following table which represents the trade figures from January 1 to December 20:—

	1932	1931	%
Raw Silk:
Quantity	544,511	549,328	99
Amount	¥280,230	¥351,467	+ 1.1
Raw Cotton:
Quantity	12,488,135	10,663,060	+ 16.6
Amount	¥434,303	¥283,374	+ 53.3
Cotton tissues	286,693	197,804	+ 44.0
Cotton yarn	21,511	8,301	+ 156.4
Silk tissues	40,563	42,932	+ 15.7

Commodity prices advanced abruptly in the year ending November 30. For instance, cotton yarn shows a rise of 92 per cent. American cotton 143 per cent., and Indian cotton 115 per cent. Obviously this marked increase in commodity prices has been effective in increasing the trade value.

Effect of Fall in the Yen.

It is undeniable that the above increase in exports has been caused largely through the fall in the yen. Particularly impressive is this demonstrated in cotton textiles which exports this year are expected to reach 2,098,700,000 square yards as against 1,371,000,000 square yards in 1930 and 1,413,000,000 square yards in 1931. Losses in China, the Philippine Islands and other boycott-afflicted districts have been well covered by gains in India, the South Sea, the Near East, and other new markets.

Indian Market.

It is interesting that whereas Britain's exports of 200,000,000 square yards in March dropped to 128,000,000 square yards in October, Japan's exports which were only 89,000,000 square yards in January jumped to 208,000,000 in August and 200,000,000 square yards in October. The following is the territorial classification:—

	1932	(estimated) 1931	1930
			(Unit: 1,000,000 sq. yd.)
China	202	218	322
Manchuria and Kwantung province	112	88	153
Hong Kong	24	63	106
British India	655	404	404
Dutch Indies	339	212	182
Philippine Islands	22	33	36
Straits Settlements	84	41	44
Turkey	38	25	23
Egypt	167	103	109
South Africa	30	30	23
Others	228	213	164
Total	2,028	1,413	1,371

NOTES FROM THE NORTH

Three battalions under the command of General Chen Tiao Yuan have been ordered to aid the dredging of Hui River.

The National Federation of Patriotic Associations, in a circular issued to the Shanghai university and middle school students, urge the latter to take advantage of their winter vacation to intensify the anti-Japanese movement in their respective native districts.

A telegram of welcome has been despatched to Sir Miles Lampson, H.M. Minister to China, by Dr. Lo Wen Kai, Minister of Foreign Affairs, asking him to come up to Nanking while on his way to Peking.

Land-owners who have been ordered by the Chinese authorities to surrender their lands in the Civic Centre in the Kiangwan District must hand over their title-deeds to the City Government before the end of February, failing which their title-deeds will be cancelled and void, states an order issued by the Mayor General.

BETTER OUTLOOK IN HANKOW

STILL PLENTY OF REDS TO BE DEALT WITH

Hankow, January 10.—The advent of the New Year brings a brighter outlook than it did a year ago thanks to the successful campaign against the "Reds", which has opened up the Han River for regular traffic. The efforts also of General Hsu Yuan Cheng to give an impetus to trade is also being evidenced by the arrival of cotton, and other commodities which were more or less conspicuous by their absence last year.

The arrival of cotton has given work to a few hundred cotton pickers who also last year had a very thin time and the press packing establishments have been able to "turn over" their machines.

While the surrounding districts are cleared of the "Reds", there are still roving bands operating mainly in the north-west borders of the province, and only a day or two ago news was received here to the effect that the 51st Division had cleared a band under the leadership of one, Niu Yueh Chun from Teochi, which had been under his control for some considerable time. The notorious Ho Lung is reported to be in Szechuen where troops under his command are threatening Wanhsien.

According to information received here, the districts between Patung to Wanhsien are all under "Red" rule, and only recently Patung, which is near the borders of Szechuen and in Hupeh was looted, the Catholic Mission suffering with the rest of the property. Fortunately the Fathers managed to hide themselves during the raid and are safe. That Ho Lung still presents a formidable problem to the Government troops is due to the report that 8,000 of the Szechuen troops turned over to him.

Recognition of Russia.

The Soviet Consul has not yet arrived here. The first repercussion of the recognition of the Soviet has shown itself here by the appearance of goods—chiefly wines—in the market. From one source it has been stated that about 200 Soviet Russians are waiting in Peiping to be sent down here to open up trade activities, and this is creating a certain amount of interest and speculation. Regarding the recognition of the Soviet Government by Nanking, the local people are rather sceptical about it, and notices are appearing, denying any possible return to the conditions which prevailed during the period following 1923. There is no doubt about it that the people had quite enough of the doctrine then preached, and so long as the present recognition curtails its activities to legitimate trade they will be willing to accept the Government's decision, as all that is required here is peaceful trade, and trade only.

NANKING DISAPPROVES

SHANGHAI, Jan. 22.—In an interview to Reuter this afternoon, Mr. Chu Chia Hua stated that the action of the Canton Government in revising the Educational system has deliberately violated the unification of the existing educational system of the country.

Mr. Chu Chia Hua said that the education ministry has already sent a wire to Canton instructing the authorities in that city to cancel the proposed revisions immediately.

PROPOSAL TO SHORTEN UNIVERSITY COURSE

Nanking, Jan. 19.—A proposal to shorten the period of a university course from four to three years is being considered by ranking officials of the Ministry of Education. Dr. Chu Chia Hua, Acting Minister of Education, is also soliciting the opinions of various circles regarding this measure.

This proposal, which was recently advocated in Canton by Mr. Tsou Lu, Chairman of the South-western Educational Reforms Committee, calls for the division of each academic year into four quarters instead of two semesters, and doing away with the prolonged summer vacations. Thus it will be possible to complete a full university course in three years instead of four. This system is to be extended later to the middle schools if found practicable.

It is understood that arrangements have been made for the establishment of a branch office of the Italian Legation at Nanking.

An echo of the burglary at the residence of Colonel Teng Cheng Chuan, former Woosung forts commandant, in the French Concession, was heard in the First Special District Court Shanghai, when a Chinese alleged to be concerned in the crime was handed over to the French police for trial in the Second Special District Court. The burglary was committed on the night of December 14 last, the stolen articles being valued at about $10,000, and including a gold watch which was a gift from General Chiang Kai Shek to Colonel Teng.
